WIZARD COLLAPSES
AFTER TESTIFYING
FOR FIVE HOURS

He Falls Amid Applause at End of Statement Before House Committee, Which Adjourns.

SAYS FORMER AGENT
ISSUED BAD CHECKS

Alleged Action of C. Anderson Wright Not Known of When He Joined Order, Simmons Tells Committee.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—William J. Simmons, Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, collapsed today at the close of a five-hour defense of the order before a House committee, and while Chairman Campbell was trying to suppress applause which greeted the conclusion of his statement.

The committee ordered a brief recess after friends of the Imperial Wizard announced that his condition was not serious, but later advised that he had died.

In his testimony Simmons again attacked C. Anderson Wright, a former klansman, who recently published what purported to be an expose of the order.

The wizard declared that the organization had declined to pay checks or drafts drawn by Wright for services performed during a membership campaign. Simmons charged that Wright, prior to his connection with the Klan, issued bad checks at Houston, Tex.

"You mean to say that Wright issued fraudulent checks?" asked Representative Rodenburg, Republican, of Illinois.

"That's my impression," Simmons replied.

"Didn't you know this before you took him on?" Rodenburg persisted.

"We did not know of it until afterward."

Simmons declared he had never authorized klansmen or field agents to draw on the organization. He denied that anybody with Klan authority had ever entered a courthouse to destroy evidence against the organization.

Denies Klansman Took Records.
After certain court records were found missing in Atlanta, Simmons testified, "they were seen in possession of representatives of the New York World, and efforts were made to attach the crime to our organization."

A certified copy of the Ku Klux charter, obtained in Georgia, was presented to the committee. It set forth, among other things, that the Klan was "purely a benevolent order, without capital stock or profit to its members."

"Touching on charges that the Klan was a terrorist outfit, Simmons, holding his hand aloft, exclaimed:

"God will bear me witness that even in the six years of my association with this organization I did not see, mercenary or commercial thought flit through my mind."

The witness declared that a man connected with the Klan in its early days had told him he, Simmons, could make $1,000,000. He did not explain the method.

"Who was that man?" asked Representative Rodenburg.

"Jonathan B. Frost, whose name appears here in our original petition," the witness replied.

"Would you go to Grave First?" When Frost made that statement I told him I would go to my grave before I would prostitute the order for commercial purposes.

Frost also told him that if he were appointed an Imperial officer he could guarantee $30,000 in 24 hours, but refused.

Simmons said it was for the purpose of preventing graft in the sale of robes that he caused to be inserted in the charter a provision giving him sole power over the Klan paraphernalia.

As the testimony proceeded it was evident that the Imperial Wizard, who recently has been ill, was suffering under a strain. Often he leaned heavily on a table as he spoke during the examination.

Charging charges that he held an illegal hand over klansmen, Simmons declared:

"The authority I hold may be compared to that of a General in the army, but a General cannot interfere in violation of the rules and regulations of war."

"Wouldn't he monarch?"
Then, with a dramatic gesture, his voice pitched high, the wizard addressed the committee.

President Harding would be track, driven by electricity at great speed and ultimately disappearing through a hole in the track inclosure. In futile chase of the rabbit the dogs race about the track, hugging the edge just as racing horses do. The first to cross a finish line is declared victor.

Questions among persons who were officiating at the opening meeting brought an expression of their opinion that public interest in the racing would be sustained on its merits as a contest. However, there was admission that, as in latter day horse racing, when the "King of Sports" had degenerated to the point where his devotees derisively designated the animals on which they bet as "dogs," the "dog" was the only thing that counted.

The new track will be 50 per cent complete when launched, having aboard its boilers, engines and all other machinery, and a trial trip will be possible in about two weeks.
It will be used in the coal and iron traffic at Birmingham, Ala.

This boat was christened by Miss Ada Johnson, early in the summer, when the "Maiden" of the same type, was christened and launched.

Robbers who looted bank in Manitoba caught by posse

Men Took $1000 From Institution After Drugging Manager and Employees.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 13.—Five robbers, who, this afternoon, drugged the manager and two women employees and robbed the Bank of Montreal, at Elie, Man., were captured in a coulee five miles from the scene of the robbery, by a posse of farmers. The amount taken from the bank was between $1000 and $1500, all of which was recovered.

Early reports of the robbery had placed the amount of the loot at $40,000 to $60,000.

THOUSANDS OF BRITISH IDLE ASSEMBLE TO DEMAND WORK

Ask Either for Jobs or Maintenance of Union Rates.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Thousands of England's unemployed assembled on the embankment this afternoon for the purpose of accompanying a deputation to Premier Lloyd George's official residence in Downing street, to demand "work or maintenance at trade union rates of wages and uniform scales of relief."

The deputation was allowed to proceed to its destination, and was admitted to the Premier's residence.

DIES ON GOLDEN WEDDING DAY

Man Falls Just Prior to Fast Preparation for 500 Guests.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Just prior to a feast prepared for 500 guests in celebration of his golden wedding anniversary, H. C. Jorgensen, 67 years old, died. His death was unexpectedly dropped dead. Their six children had presented the couple with a framed photograph of the house in which they were married.

Jorgensen looked at the picture pointed his finger at a window of the house. "Mother," he said,
"right in that very room 50 years ago." But the "Unbidden Guest" broke the sentence and he tottered and fell.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Gov.
Sproul of Pennsylvania is expected here to succeed the late Philander C. Knox as junior Senator from Pennsylvania. Except for the timely intervention of President Harding, the Pennsylvania Governor would have been a candidate in the primary next spring opposing Knox for renomination. Only the influence of the President of the United States smoothed out a situation in Pennsylvania which for a time threatened party solidarity. With the death of Knox, the story can be told, for it bears directly upon the choice of his successor.

Knox was happy in the Senate.
He wanted to be re-elected. He had been Attorney-General under President Roosevelt and resigned to enter the Senate, only to resign again and become Secretary of State under President Taft. He had been found in the Senate an opportunity to display his legal talents to best advantage and fairly revealed in the task of picking holes in the Ver-dick treaty and leaving the Italian group which determined that the United States should never enter the League of Nations.

Mr. Harding would have liked to make Knox his Secretary of State.
He realized that he must choose a man who had not been so conspicuously identified with the factional fights in the Senate. Knox was in ill health, yet he was considerably annoyed by reports that his advanced age was interfering with his possible selection as Secretary of State.

After Hughes was appointed, the Pennsylvania Senator, who had not been devoted to his duties, was fixing of political fences in his home State, came to realize that his seat was endangered by the rising influ-

Knox told President Harding the situation. The President invited Gov. Sproul to the White House.
He didn't intimate what the subject of the conference would be. Gov.
Sproul entered the executive offices of the White House, the President stepped forward and greeted him cordially.

Most assuredly we could sell dozens of these Suits at more than $150 each; dozens more at $100—and again many more at $79 each; and the poorest in the lot at $69.50. But it would take a month or more.
"Ay, there's the rub." We want to sell them all in one day. Therein lies the secret for setting the sale price at $48 for ANY Suit in the lot.

STREET CAR FATALITY DECLARED AN ACCIDENT

W. M. Blelock, 89, Who Was Struck at Belt and Pershing Avenue Last Friday, Dies.

A coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the death of William M. Blelock, 89 years old, of 5337 Watman avenue, manager of the Blelock Manufacturing Co., who was struck by an Olive-University car at 9 a. m. last Friday at Belt and Pershing avenues, suffering injuries which at that time were said by a physician not to be serious. Blelock died yesterday at the Deaconess Hospital.

Police who last night investigated the death were informed by Dr. W. John Harris of 4512 McPherson avenue that the cause of death was a fracture of the skull and lacerations of the brain.

The police were informed that Blelock was removed from his home to the hospital Monday. He had not been taken to a hospital, immediately after the accident.

Blelock, who had poor vision and hearing, was struck by an eastbound car, and was picked up by the fender. He was put on the car and taken to the car sheds at De Baliviere avenue and Delmar boulevard, where a physician was called.

A Post-Dispatch reporter, who left the Post-Dispatch office on a street car after the accident had occurred, found upon arrival at the car shed that the injured man was still there. Shortly afterward he was taken to his home in an automobile by the physician who had dressed his wounds, described then as scalp wounds and a cut on the right hand. Bert Thornton, 33, 2808 Arlington avenue, was motorman of the car which struck Blelock, and M. A. Donahue, 6516 Crest avenue, was conductor. Both were witnesses at the inquest.

REFUSES 5-YEAR TERM IN ROBBERY CASE AND GETS 25

Humbert Costello Found Guilty by Jury of Robbing Jewelry Store on South Broadway.

Humbert Costello, 23 years old, was sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary on a charge of first degree robbery by a jury in Judge Hall's court yesterday, after he had refused to forego trial by accepting a recommendation of a five-year sentence by the jury. Attorney, stating that he would rather take life imprisonment from a jury than five years on a plea of guilty.

Costello was charged jointly with four others of robbing the jewelry store of William Mauch, 1434 South Broadway, Dec. 18 last, in which jewelry valued at $2500 and $500 cash were taken, after Mauch and his son had been bound with ropes and thrown into a rear room.

Two of the robbers—Benjamin Gillbreath Jr. and Elmer Schneider—pleaded guilty in February and were sentenced to five years each and given additional sentences totaling five years each for another crime. A fourth man, Milford Jones, pleaded guilty to the Mauch robbery last Monday and is awaiting sentence. A fifth man, said to have been implicated in the robbery, is under arrest at Kansas City on a more serious charge there.

Costello was also tried on the additional charge of being an habitual criminal, the maximum penalty of which is life imprisonment. The jury did not consider this charge. About $2000 worth of the jewelry has been recovered. Part of it was found concealed in Gillbreath's home. Costello is an Italian. He lived at 513 South Fourth street. He served a term in the penitentiary for fraud larceny.

OPENED in 1879, by Charles Pope, in an edifice which was originally built for a church in 1851. Mr. Pope himself was a well-known actor, having traveled all over the United States with the best actors of the country. Only the very finest of dramatic art was staged in the Pope's Theatre, and it became very popular as soon as it was opened.

Afterwards, in 1896, the Pope's Theatre was replaced by the Century Theatre. In 1913, Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney acquired a lease on the Century Building, and on January 16, 1920, dedicated the Vandervoort Music Hall, on the Sixth Floor, to the civic interests of St. Louis.

USE COCOANUT OIL
FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and is very harmful. Mulisified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonful of Mulisified will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulisified coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulisified.

Couriers With Official Text on Way to German Capital.
Warsaw and Entente
Capitals.

SOLUTION INVOLVES
NEW FRONTIER LINE

Also Provides for Guarantees Against Dislocation of Existing Economic Conditions, It Is Said.

The Associated Press.
BERLIN, Oct. 13.—Resignation of the German Cabinet is believed to be in the air. If press reports of the decision of the council of the League of Nations relative to the appointment of Upper Silesia are confirmed by the official text of the decision, expected here this afternoon, there has been little effect on the part of the Government. Officials to conceal the fact that the cabinet would face a crisis if German cases should be separated from the country by the action of the league council, and there are indications that apprehension over possible disorders has been felt in government circles.

Couriers carrying official texts of the decision are believed to have left Geneva last night for Berlin, Warsaw, Paris, London and Rome. The council's solution of the Silesian question will be made public as soon as it has been formally communicated to the German and Polish cabinets.

Decision Hour in Life of League.
Says Viscount Ishii.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Oct. 13.—The Council of the League of Nations has reached its final decision of the Upper Silesia case, the greatest task yet set for its consideration with greater dispatch than many expected. The solution reached by the council in resolving a new frontier line together with certain measures providing for guarantees against the dislocation of existing economic conditions.

The members of the council are confident that this solution is the only possible one and that it will in the same time roll away one of the dark clouds hovering over Europe and firmly establish the prestige of the league.

The text of the decision will be published simultaneously at Paris, London, Rome and Geneva, as soon as it is delivered to the Berlin and Warsaw Governments.

A statement issued by the league, that, confronted by the extreme difficulty of reconciling the ethnic and economic elements of the question, the council drew of all charges, committed, compromise of British, Brazilian, Chinese and Spanish delegates with the ally of the problem. The committee reached the conclusion that a frontier drawn as there is accordance with the plain facts of the economic condition without other stipulation, was bound to have unfortunate results.

The committee accordingly recommended a new frontier, together with a guarantee against the dislocation of existing economic conditions extending over a period long enough to permit the region to adapt itself to the new economic situation completely and effectively as possible by the new economic situation.

The committee also recommended that to study general measures, the application of which would assure continuity of the economic life of Upper Silesia and reduce to a minimum the difficulties during the period of change.

The economic stipulations formulated by the experts provide for the application over a fixed period, some cases extending to 15 years, a series of a management's respective roads and water and electric supplies, as well as the suppression of customs duties on numerous articles including wine and coal, and the maintenance of the German mark as legal currency in the regions ceded to Poland.

Political Minorities.
The council recommends the admission of these plans, together with that of a guarantee relative to political minorities, believing the latter to be an essential complement to the establishment of a political frontier.

The statement concludes: "It is in this manner only that it is possible to give the largest satisfaction to the political aspirations of the inhabitants and insure at the same time the economic prosperity of the country."

At the close of the session of the council, Viscount Ishii, the president, thanking his colleagues, said: "The council has happily reached the solution of one of the most difficult and complex questions. It has succeeded successfully. I am first of all convinced, one of the most important sessions with which it will be charged."

"It is a decisive hour in the life of the League of Nations; the solution we have reached cannot fail to be of assistance in large measure to the maintenance of the peace of Europe and the world."

Looking Forward

Public invited to formal opening of additional banking quarters, 9 a. m. to 2 p. m., Monday, October 17.

It is well occasionally to look backward on the progress of the past. Looking well to the future, however, is what makes a bright past. Ahead lie other milestones for St. Louis—for this bank.

The National Bank of Commerce is planning on these future miles by increasing the banking space one-third, offering necessary facilities for immediate business and providing for future growth, demonstrating faith in an even greater St. Louis of tomorrow.

Our progress as shown in this expansion represents the measure of public confidence and is as well a testimonial to St. Louis labor, manufacturers and merchants.

Extending on Broadway a full block in the heart of busy downtown St. Louis, this institution is better equipped than ever to offer "Commerce Service" to increasing numbers. The new space, one of the most attractive banking rooms in the city, will house the Trust, Bond and Safe Deposit departments.

Establishing all the means for modern banking on readily accessible first floor space, offers St. Louisans an opportunity to concentrate their financial business in one place.

A step off Broadway brings you to seven departments, all with the safeguards of national bank supervision and under one board of Directors:

Commercial, Savings,	Banks and Bankers, Trust, Safe Deposit.	Bond, Foreign,
----------------------	---	----------------

The public in general is cordially invited to visit this beautiful new addition Monday, October 17, 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. Come in and see how convenient it is to do your "bank shopping" the Commerce way.

Build a bank account with the bank that is building for a Greater St. Louis.

At the opening be sure to get a copy of our new folder, "Banking the Commerce Way," outlining the functions of each of our departments, and pointing the way for your use of them.

INGROWN TOE NAILS

Nail Turns Out Itself if you Toughen Skin Underneath

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic, manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a bottle containing directions.

Charles H. Phillips of Nashville, Tenn., of the Fourth District of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church, who is visiting his son, Dr. C. H. Phillips Jr., 4209 West Belle place, has recently returned from London, where he was a delegate to the Methodist Episcopal Conference.

"There are two subjects today in Great Britain," said Bishop Phillips, "that are absorbing the minds of the people: Unemployment and the Irish Home Rule question. When I left London the number of unemployed was 1,237,500. There was said to be 1,237,500. There was considerable suffering among the laboring class. Evidently unemployment is giving as much trouble in Europe as in America.

Motion to Set Aside Sale of Paper.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 13.—A motion to set aside the sale of the Detroit Times, was filed in Federal District court here yesterday by attorneys representing Earl C. Insufficient money was offered at the auction last Thursday, to satisfy the demands of the creditors and stockholders, the motion contended. Argument will be heard by Judge Arthur J. Tuttle on Oct. 24.

WOMAN SHOTS AT HUSBAND

Both Charged With Disturbing the Peace.
Mrs. Clara Cain, 24 years old, of 2315 De Kalb street, was arrested at 2:45 a. m. today when she visited the Wyoming Street Police Station and reported she had fired a revolver at her husband, James J. Cain, when he came home at 2:30 a. m. after starting to celebrate his thirtieth birthday.

She had been asleep, she said, and was aroused by her husband pounding on the door. When she opened the door, she said, he became angered at the delay and struck her. She said he fled out a rear door when she shot at him.

The police later found Cain at the home of a brother, and took him to the station, charged with disturbing the peace.

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were eliminated from the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally formulated a preparation that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let others know where to find out about his discovery through the press.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying Aside all digestive aids and instead get from any drugstore a few ounces of Blaurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Blaurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

IN LUMBER TRADE
EXCHANGE CASE

Richard E. Gruner Says Organization Was Formed to Stop "Unethical" Practices and "Protect Public."

SAYS MALLISTER

Witnesses Assert Contractor Would Obtain Bids and Then "Play One Dealer Against Another."

When the hearing in the suit of the Attorney-General against the St. Louis Lumber Trade Exchange, under the State antitrust law, was resumed today in the Chamber of Commerce building, before Special Commissioner Shackelford, Attorney-General Barrett announced that the State had closed its case.

The first witness for the defense was Richard E. Gruner, president of the Philip Gruner & Bros. Lumber Co., a member of the exchange. Under examination by W. Frank Carter, attorney for the exchange, Gruner said that one purpose of the organization of the exchange was to put an end to "unethical" practices among lumber dealers. He said that these unethical practices included short measure, the substitution of grades, and practices of contractors in "playing" one lumber dealer against the other, with the result that lumber was sold below the price at which it could be sold at a profit.

He illustrated this latter point by declaring that if a contractor received bids of $900, $910 and $890 on a bill of lumber, he would call one of the bidders in and say to him that he had received a bid of $800 and that the dealer must meet that bid to obtain the business.

"Dealer Often Skinned." Questions put to Gruner disclosed that as a result of these sharp practices, "the owner was skinned, the lumber dealer was skinned and the contractor got the money." He declared the lumber dealer had often been "trimmed to a Queen's taste" by the contractors who played one dealer against another.

He admitted his own company several years ago had resorted to the practice of giving short measure and substituting inferior grades of lumber. This method of doing business, Gruner said, seemed to be a matter of policy in those days, and his company gave up the retail lumber business at one time to escape the odium of this policy.

His company has since resumed retail business, and while it and other companies in the exchange deal fairly with the public in the matter of grades and measure, he declared, some non-members among the retail dealers still resort to the short measure and low grade practices.

Object of Organization. The St. Louis Lumber Trade Exchange, Gruner said, was organized to put the lumber business on a business basis and for the protection of the public. He said Attorney General McAllister, in 1917, had been apprised of the policy of the exchange and found no fault with it, although not approving its practices. The Federal Trade Commission also had been informed of the service charge levied by the exchange and favored it in principle, but not in detail.

This service charge, he testified, did not fix prices, but created a minimum price for members of the exchange below which they could not profitably sell, and if they did so, anyhow, subjected themselves to fines for so doing.

The service charge was based on the cost of doing business, he testified, and was figured by an accountant and confirmed by the Board of Directors before becoming the rule for the quarter.

Gruner testified that members of the exchange did only about 20 per cent of the lumber business in St. Louis, wholesale and retail, and that competition with nonmembers of the exchange was very keen, adding that members of the exchange did not "cut much ice here."

Hoxie's Testimony Recalled. Gruner's attention was called to the testimony at a previous hearing of Robert S. Hoxie, manager of the exchange, to the effect that members of the exchange did 75 per cent of the lumber business in St. Louis. He could not account for Hoxie's testimony, stating only that he believed 20 per cent about right.

It was shown that about 500,000 feet of lumber was sold in St. Louis each year. Gruner said members of the exchange handled $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 feet. About 300,000,000 feet of the total, he testified, was sold at retail.

City Hall for Maplewood Discussed. A mass meeting of 300 citizens of Maplewood, called by Mayor Schuster and held at the Maplewood High School last night, appointed a committee of five men and two women, of which M. F. O'Brien is chairman, to consider whether it will be cheaper to erect a city hall or to continue renting the building which serves as the present city hall.

German Marks Lowest on Record. By the Associated Press. LONDON, Oct. 12.—German marks fell heavily in the Stock Exchange here this morning, dropping to $40 to the pound sterling. This was the lowest price on record. The fall in the value of the mark was attributed to the report relative to the decision of the Council of the League of Nations regarding Silesia.

DR. D. F. LUCKEY'S
SALARY CUT $1200
Pay of Two Farm Institute Lecturers Also Reduced by Board of Agriculture.
By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch, Oct. 12.—An echo of the bitter fight by which Gov. Hyde drove through the regular session of the Legislature a number of departmental consolidated bills, including one creating a State Department of Agriculture, came in the meeting of the State Board of Agriculture at Sedalia Monday, when the salaries of three major employes of the board, who had fought the consolidation bill, were reduced extensively.
The salaries cut were those of Dr. D. F. Luckey of Jefferson City, State veterinarian, reduced from $4800 to $3600 a year; Dr. Kelly Wright of Columbia and Samuel M.
Jordan of Keosauqua, farm institute lecturers, reduced from $4000 to $3600 each. Luckey and Wright are Democrats. Jordan is a Republican.
All three have been in the department for several years, Luckey since 1925.
Gov. Hyde attended the meeting of the board, having driven to Sedalia in company with A. L. McCawley, a member of the State Tax Commission, who, although chairman of the Democratic County Committee of Jasper County, drew many of Hyde's consolidation bills and directed the fight by which they were put through. McCawley openly led the defense of the agricultural consolidation bill before House and Senate committees, where Luckey, Wright and Jordan appeared in opposition to the measure, now suspended by referendum, pending a vote of the people in November, 1932.
McCawley formally called the attention of the board to the financial torpor of the period and a need for retrenchment in expenditure of the State government, pointing out the possibility of shrinking the three salaries in question, with benefit to the State. McCawley is understood also to have reminded that the tax commission will have a hand next year, at least in shaping a budget for recommendation to the Legislature from which the board members could take an obvious inference that unless the three salaries were trimmed the entire activities of the board might be the object of a wholesale attack from the tax commissioner in future.
The board forthwith voted to trim its payroll to specifications.

If there had been a Mercantile in 1821, and your great grandfather had deposited $100 in a savings account at 3% interest, compounded every 6 months, and if that $100 had been left untouched to this day—

It would amount to $1,952.27, almost 20 times the original deposit.

Quite a string of ifs, isn't it? But there's no if about compound interest. It's a multiplying power, and the nearest thing to perpetual motion. If it isn't working for you, you're losing time and money. Start it today. Be a Mercantile saver.

BILL DELAYED BY ARGUMENT OVER CHEWING GUM TAX

Reed Demands to Know Why Manufacturer Should Be Exempt From $1,000,000 Levy on "Useless Article."

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Adoption by the Senate of the Republican compromise plan for repeal of all the transportation taxes on next Jan. 1, was completed yesterday with the acceptance without a dissenting vote of an amendment removing the tax on parcel post packages. Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, sought to extend the repeal to levies on messages by telegraph, telephone, cable and radio, but his motion was voted down, 22 to 25.

Committee amendments to the bill accepted included these imposing licenses taxes on brokers and others and manufacturers of unperfected fruit juices; 7½ cents a gallon on finished fountain syrups and 5 cents a pound on carbonic acid gas.

Until the chewing gum tax was reached the Senate made fairly rapid progress on the bill. But there it stuck for nearly two hours with a discussion of chewing gum, tariff and other subjects. A Republican proposal to repeal the 2 per cent tax on gum was opposed by Senator Reed, who said the Senate had voted to retain $28,500,000 in taxes upon senders and receivers of messages by wire and radio while it was proposed to refund one-twenty-eighth of that amount to Wrigley.

Reed Demanded Explanation. "Who made this bargain?" asked Senator Reed with reference to the compromise plan to knock out the chewing gum tax. Who overturned the action of the committee? When was it agreed to? It demands an explanation when a gentleman can escape $1,000,000 in taxes on something that is useless and worthless. What was the influence that reached behind the doors and took the tax off Mr. Wrigley?

Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, said the information before the Finance Committee was that factories of the American Chicle Company were closed down and that the removal of the tax had been suggested to get those plants started up again. He declared that so far as the committee knew, "Mr. Wrigley" did not care about the tax; that he never had asked that it be removed. During the course of Senator Reed's address there was reference to the agricultural "bloc" and Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, wanted to know how many agriculturists were in the "bloc." This led later to an address by Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, who declared the time had come to quit referring derisively to the agricultural "bloc." He warned that it was composed of Democratic and Republican Senators who were determined to get legislation through the Senate for the benefit of the farmers and who were equally as determined that the "minions of Wall street" should not control tax and tariff legislation.

Excise Tax Section Passed Over. After an address by Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, who told of the work of the agricultural "bloc" and again attacked the Federal Reserve Board, the excise tax section was passed over.

Chairman Penrose of the Finance Committee, announced yesterday that as soon as the peace treaties were disposed of he would ask for unanimous consent for final vote on the tax bill on Oct. 21.

"I look," he said, "for all amendments suggested by the Finance Committee and those accepted by the majority of Republican members to be part of the bill. No amendments from the minority or any other source will have any show."

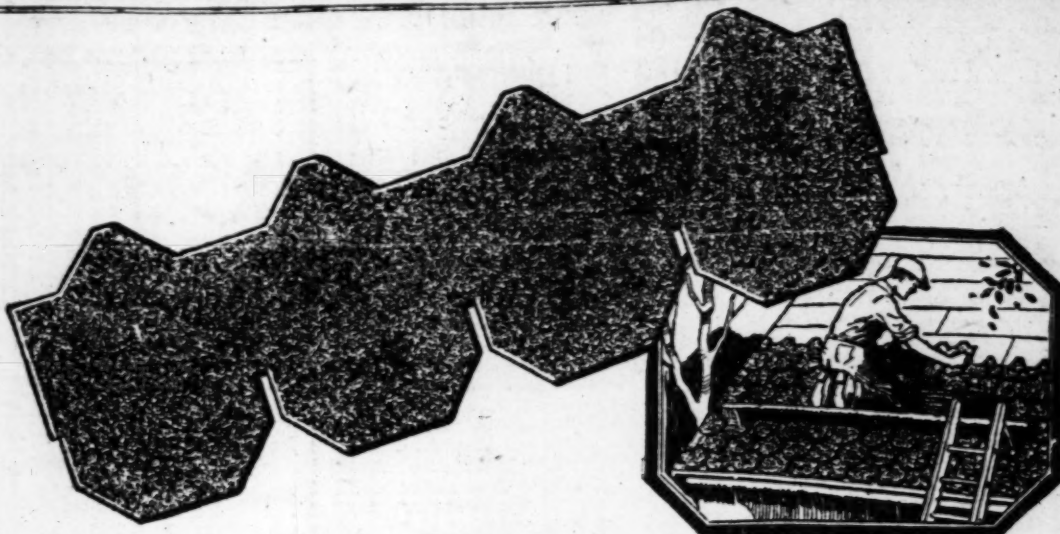

"The bill doubtless will be improved in conference, by which time sentiment in both houses will be thoroughly canvassed and public sentiment doubtless will be clearly heard from throughout the country."

Penrose Hopes for Passage of Tariff Bill by Feb. 1.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Passage of the permanent tariff bill by next Feb. 1 is the hope of Chairman Penrose and Fordney of the House Ways and Means Committee. Senator Penrose said yesterday he had conferred with Fordney and that they had agreed to extension of the emergency tariff law until that date.

Notices that hearings on the tariff bill will be resumed Nov. 1 were sent out yesterday to agricultural interests. The livestock schedule will be taken up first, Penrose said. The tariff also got into Senate discussions, Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, warning that "10 bold Democrats and 10 bold Republicans" were determined to let the minions of Wall street should no longer dominate in the framing of tariff legislation; that protection would be given the farmers.

"If it is not," he said, "there will be no tariff bill." "I appeal to my Republican colleagues," he said, "to stay in session, hold night sessions, pass the tax bill and also the tariff bill if it is going to aid the farmers." Declaring that cheap labor in Africa and the Far East was being employed in large numbers to produce cotton, the speaker said the time would come when the South would take the lead in demanding a protective tariff on cotton.

At Last—A Distinctive Strip-Shingle

The Ruberoid Strip-shingle is unrivaled in its unusual features. Here is a shingle which, due to its patented form, does what no other shingle has ever done. It gives you maximum quality—that is, true Ruberoid quality—at minimum cost.

Consider what this means. For nearly half a century Ruberoid has set the standard by which roofing products have been judged. Now this quality is found in a strip-shingle, the price of which is within the reach of any one.

This shingle offers another advantage. It has a most distinctive design and one which may be varied in many ways. You can lay it in red or green entire, or combine these colors in many harmonious patterns to which the slate surfacing lends itself admirably. The coloring of the evenly crushed slate is permanent and the slate itself is deeply imbedded in the surface coating and stays there.

Ruberoid Strip-shingles are easy to apply.

You could lay them yourself. They are self-spacing. No chalk lines are necessary. Only five nails to a strip, but each strip actually secured by nine nails due to the tabs on the upper edge.

On request we will gladly send you an attractive folder describing the Ruberoid Strip-shingle and give you the name of the nearest Ruberoid Distributor. The coupon below is for your convenience.

GOVERNMENT HAS NO ROOM FOR GIRL LEPER

City Likely to Have to Build Portable House for Hazel Deuser.

Hospital Commissioner Jordan today received a letter from C. C. Pierce, acting Surgeon-General of the United States Public Health Service, stating that at present there was no room in the national leper colony at Carville, La., for patients from St. Louis.

Dr. Jordan had written asking that the Government take charge of Hazel Deuser, 22 years old, who has been cared for at the clinic building of the city hospital since it was discovered two weeks ago that she had leprosy. The 6-month-old daughter of the woman, which was sent to the hospital with her, was found to be free of the disease and was taken to her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Deuser of 1212A Aubert avenue.

Dr. Jordan also had hoped that the Government would take charge of two men lepers now at the Koch Isolation Hospital. The city had been informed six months ago that by this time there probably would be room for these patients at the national leprosy hospital. At that time there was room for three women patients.

The Surgeon-General stated that the congressional appropriation for the institution was so nearly exhausted that no additional facilities could be installed. He said it was uncertain when there would be room for the St. Louis patients.

Dr. Jordan said he and Dr. E. C. North, president of the State Board of Health, would call today on Congressman Hawes, who is in the city, and ask him to endeavor to have the Government provide for the patients. They also propose writing to Senator Spencer and the other St. Louis Congressmen.

The Hospital Commissioner said that the young woman leper cannot be cared for permanently at the city hospital, and that the only way she can be cared for at Koch Hospital would be to build a portable house for her. Even then, he added, it would be virtually impossible to obtain a nurse for her.

Dentists know all about it

VERY often a dentist has to prescribe a deodorizing mouth wash for a patient in self-defense before he can do his work comfortably.

And yet such a patient may not have been conscious that he or she is suffering from Halitosis (unpleasant breath).

Your own dentist knows all about this. Maybe he'll tell you if you ask him.

When Halitosis is only a temporary condition it is an easy matter to avoid embarrassment by using that good antiseptic mouth wash—Listerine—regularly and generously.

It's a good feeling to know your breath is all right.

HOWAT, FIRED BY MINERS' HEAD, SAYS 'WE WILL GO AHEAD'

Kansas District of the Union Is Suspended by John L.
Lewis and G. L. Peck Is Put in Charge.

HOWAT REFUSED TO PUT MINERS TO WORK

Legal Proceedings to Obtain Possession of Headquarters Expected on Refusal to Give Them Up.

By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURG, Kan., Oct. 12.—
From his cell in the Cherokee County jail in Columbus, where he received a telegram from John L.
Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, announcing the suspension of District 13, Alexander Howat made this statement:

"I will with John Lewis and Gov.
Allen. Our plans are unchanged.
We will continue the fight.

Alexander Howat and all other district officers are summarily removed, and George L. Peck, until the district's suspension of the international board member, has been appointed acting president of a provisional district.

All loyal miners of the district will recognize the provisional district officials. Lewis declares in a message announcing the suspension.
Peck, in a statement this morning, declares that the miners must go back to work now. He announced that he would take charge of the district headquarters this morning.

With Peck is named Thomas Harvey, suspended secretary-treasurer of the Kansas district, and all other district officers are summarily removed, and George L. Peck, until
the district's suspension of the international board member, has been appointed acting president of a provisional district.

The cause of the action of Lewis, however, in suspending the district, is based upon the refusal of Howat and his district board to put back at work miners called out on strike at the Dean and Reliance mines last spring. The international organization holds that the strikes were in violation of agreements with the operators and the international board ordered Howat to order the men back to work. Howat refused to do so. The recent international convention at Indianapolis sustained the action of the international officers.
Howat still refused to order the men to return to work.

There are approximately 12,000 miners paying union dues in district 13. Practically all of them have been idle since Howat went to jail.
"I haven't received a telegram from Lewis and the situation will not be changed," John Flemming, acting president of the Kansas district, said this morning. Flemming and other district board members prepared to hold a meeting.

Possession of Office Refused.
The action of President Lewis in suspending the Kansas district, is generally conceded in State official circles to have promise of entirely clearing up the puzzling situation arising out of the cessation of work in the Kansas mine field, following the jailing of Howat and Dorchy.
When Peck entered the headquarters of the district union and asked that the place be turned over to him, Flemming refused to do so.

"I won't pay any more attention to you than I would to a snow ball in hell," Flemming told Peck.

Legal proceedings to obtain possession of the offices are expected today.

Suspension Intended as Discipline of Officers.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 12.— Suspension of the Kansas mine union officials is declared by officials at the headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America here to be intended to discipline Alexander Howat and other Kansas officers for failing to carry out the recent order of the union's convention requiring them to direct strikers to return to work at the Dean and Reliance mines.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

An Improvement Scheme.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Ever since the people rejected the proposed parkway scheme from Twelfth street to Grand avenue, several years ago, I have awaited an opportune time to suggest a scheme which I believe will be both practical and popular. The present unemployment situation, together with the Twelfth street episode of Wednesday evening, affords me the opportunity.

First, let me say that the failure of the former scheme was due chiefly to the fact that it did not appeal to the working people. A downtown park, designed especially to meet the needs of the workers, should be included in any proposed bond issue to assure approval.

My scheme, briefly, is this: Take over all the property between Chestnut and Market streets from the old city hall grounds to Grand avenue; all south of Market street to Clark avenue from Fourteenth to Eighteenth streets; all between Market and Walnut from Twelfth to Jefferson. Convert the ground thus taken south of Market into two parks—east of Union station for white people, west of Union station for colored people, reserving the right to build additional municipal buildings when necessary westward from the Municipal Courts building.

Build as a war-service memorial facing Twelfth on the old city hall grounds a structure suitable for conventions, municipal theater and smaller meetings. Construct a double three-speed road-way from Twelfth street to Grand avenue, leveling the same from Thirteenth to Nineteenth streets with viaducts at Fourteenth and Eighteenth streets and circular crossings at Ewing and Compton, eliminating all other cross streets except Twelfth street and Jefferson avenue.

Rearrange street car lines as follows: Bring Lucile line east on Walnut to Twenty-first street, there elevating to pass directly overhead of the Union Station midway, coming to park surface level at Seventeenth, thence east on speedway and park, outlining route all southwest car will run. Turn Eighteenth street car east on Clark from the south and east on Pine from the north. This rearrangement will leave but one car line crossing the speedway, at Jefferson, and bring four lines into Union Station, six lines to the park without crossing it and seven more within two and three blocks.

The working people will vote for any amount of bonds expended for this scheme because it gives them two things they need, i. e., work and a place to play. In such a park any entertainment proposed, such as that which failed on Twelfth street Wednesday evening, can be put on for 250,000 people without crowding. The space allotted for the colored people's park is also ample. The speedway will solve the traffic problem in the central district and, with the rearrangement of street car tracks as outlined, will postpone the necessity of overhead or underground transportation for this district.

The whole project should be put into the hands of competent engineers to be worked out and completed without interference by public officers, politicians, or any form of business or civic organizations. It would probably take 12 years to complete the work, beginning at the east end and working westward block by block. In the meantime the fund would receive several millions of dollars from rentals and the sale of material, all of which should be carefully preserved and sold at a reasonable price to actual builders of homes and other structures within the city.

Who will foot the bill? The same people upon whom we have saddled an enormous war debt—our children and grandchildren. In this case they will have full value for their money. In the meantime we will pay the interest, or rent for the use of it. M. KUHN.

Beyond the Sky.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I WAS interested in the letter "No Heat." Did the writer ever read "When Tragedy Grins"? He might find some comfort in it. Anyhow, there can be no doubt that the landlords who refuse to furnish us heat now will themselves get plenty of heat at their final address just beyond the sky.

ALSO SHIVERING.

The Unemployment Relief Plan.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
The plan outlined by the commission for the relief of the unemployed, proposing a wage of $1.50 a day, with the city furnishing a living at municipal boarding houses for 75 cents a day, is not complete. Are the contractors to be at present-day rates? If they are, the plan would prove a feast for the contractors.

It must be kept in mind that the bond issue has to be ratified by popular vote. Does anyone imagine that the working people will vote for bonds which fix a wage of $1.50 a day without also fixing the rates of the contractors?

In the unemployment relief plan capital must join with labor in any sacrifices that are to be made. If prewar wages are to prevail, prewar contractor rates must also be required. Let us carry out this big project fairly and squarely. OBSERVER.

WHAT NATION CAN BE TRUSTED?

If the present Congress restores to our coastwise shipping monopoly the enormously valuable privilege of free use of the Panama Canal, the Harding administration will have been guilty of a serious breach of faith. It will have made a scrap of paper of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. It will have served notice on the world that the United States is not to be trusted.

A specious argument can be contrived in defense of the action of the Senate, which has voted to exempt coastwise vessels from paying canal tolls. It can be urged, as it has been, that the language of the treaty, guaranteeing to all nations the use of the canal on equal terms, did not include the United States; that we reserved the right to grant our own shipping special advantages as we might decide upon. But that special pleading has been denounced time and again in Congress and in the press, and by no one more forcefully than by Elihu Root, whose legal pre-eminence is acknowledged and who certainly knows what the text of that treaty meant.

In other times it may be that public opinion would have winked at such trickery. Such times are past. Today it is held that nations must observe the same standards of honorable dealing as obtain in private business and in personal relations. Unless that principle is lived up to we must abandon hope of any concerted policy of the nations in behalf of peace. Unless nations keep their agreements, not as a matter of fear, or policy, but as a matter of right, the most solemn pacts that may be entered into will be worthless.

It is freely admitted that certain parts of the country—the Eastern and Western seaboard states—might profit from the lowered ocean rates, resulting from this gratuity to the coastwise shipping trust. It is equally true that the Middle West and Mississippi Valley states would be correspondingly penalized. No justification can be offered for such discrimination. But the real beneficiary of this special privilege would be the owners of coastwise shipping lines. Transcending in importance the domestic injustice of such lavish favoritism, however, is the question of the country's honor and the learning our decision will ultimately have on international relations and will immediately have on the disarmament conference's capacity to accomplish something substantial for peace.

In the Senate's passage of the bill to scrap the Hay-Pauncefote treaty our Missouri Senators were on opposite sides. Senator Spencer voted against the bill and in so voting he expressed the moral judgment of the State as well as serving our material interests. In voting for the bill Senator Reed disappointed his constituency. If the United States can scrap a treaty as the Senate proposes, what assurance can any people find in any treaty? What nation can have any confidence in any other nation?

THE MT. EVEREST CLIME.

The brief dispatch from Col. Howard Bury, in charge of the expedition that the northwest route to Mount Everest has been found practicable must have given a genuine thrill to readers of the Post-Dispatch who have followed Col. Bury's absorbingly interesting reports of this daring adventure.

The difficulties and disappointments that have been encountered were, of course, expected, but they were told with a piquant matter-of-factness. The imperturbability of the diarist, his apparent inability to be elated or depressed, has enveloped the stories with an extraordinary charm. Had Col. Bury, climbing over the edge of a precipice, popped into an executive session of mythology's gods he would calmly have jotted down the fact and proceeded at once to tell us all about the fauna and flora of Olympus.

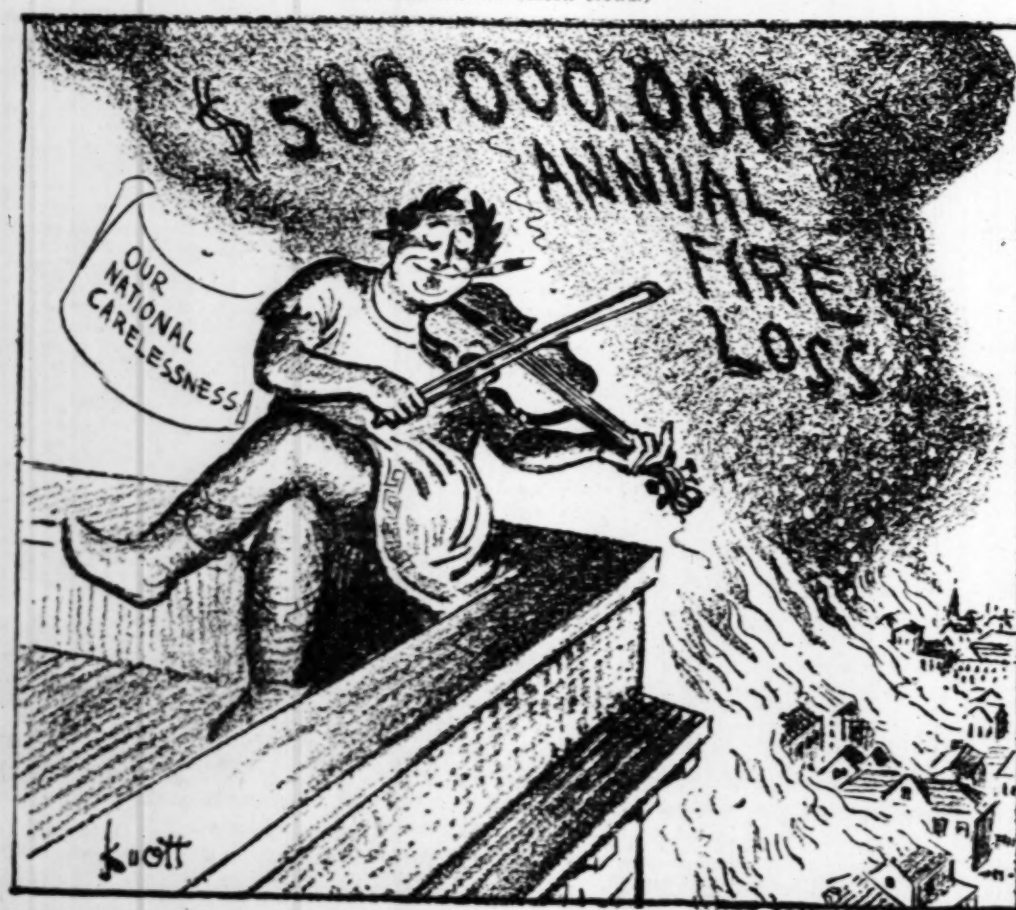

Thanks to this expedition we already know the Himalayas as we never knew them before. Those far Tibetan heights have much in common with our own Rockies, or with any mountains one happens to be acquainted with. That has been a beguiling feature of the undertaking for the reader—the following of a familiar trail along those strange, distant steep.

Natural history, geography and the literature of man's indomitable purpose have all been enriched by this expedition, regardless of whether it succeeded or failed. Scientists, however, construe the latest message to mean that the summit will be reached, that Mount Everest, highest of them all, the last of the impossibles, is about to be vanquished. There's a way to the top, however high. But among average newspaper readers there will be great personal rejoicing on Col. Bury's account. A man who would have been so good a loser deserved to win.

If women insist on slipping down on the oiled Washington avenue pavement, the meager sex will be reserving space on the sidewalks.

NETO FIDDELED WHILE ROME BURNED.

PHILANDER C. KNOX.

The late Senator Knox was a man of unusual ability, whose achievements, with the exception of his successful prosecution of the trusts, never quite equaled his capacity and reputation.

Known as one of the ablest corporation lawyers in the country, when President McKinley appointed him Attorney-General he treated the people to a pleasing surprise by enforcing the antitrust law. He prosecuted the Northern Securities case with skill and vigor, winning a notable success which proved that the antitrust laws, regarded then as scraps of legal paper, had force and effect. The merger of the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific railroads was dissolved. This was followed by prosecutions of the Beef Trust and other combinations. He was Mr. Roosevelt's able counselor and assistant in opening the way to the building of the Panama Canal, although credited with a cynical disregard for either the legality or righteousness of the methods used. As Secretary of State his most notable achievement was the making of treaties and the devising of a policy which was designated as "dollar diplomacy," trade advantages being the main purpose of his work. His record in the Senate was a disappointment to his admirers. He failed to achieve the leadership and success to which his ability and attainments seemed to entitle him. He was one of the bitterest opponents of the League of Nations and the author of the peace resolution which was the basis of the separate peace with Germany.

With extraordinary intellectual capacity he lacked the moral force, broad vision and high aim which are essential to great statesmanship. Honors and opportunities fell easily into his hands and while demonstrating the power to go far he was handicapped by an apparent cynical indifference and lack of lofty purpose. Few men have accomplished so much in public life with such ease.

ENCOURAGEMENT FOR IMPROVEMENTS.

Normalcy in the cost of road construction is drawing near. Bids recently submitted in Illinois averaged $28,233 a mile. The low record was $24,685. Specifications included cement for an 18-foot roadway complete.

This drop from recent peaks of $35,000 to $48,000 a mile, according to quality and width, is striking. The low bid indicates the possibility of a considerable further reduction in the average. These new levels will encourage heavy construction programs wherever contemplated, and that, of course, includes Missouri and the City of St. Louis.

Gov. Hyde has declared his intention of recommending to the coming special session of the Legislature the advancement of the date of the issuance of the road bonds for the state-wide program. This should be done as an unemployment relief measure as well as to meet the pressing need of hard-surfaced highways. The deflation of material and construction prices, moreover, is another argument for the speedy authorization of a bond issue in St. Louis for the carrying out of a comprehensive program of badly needed repairs and improvements in street and sewer construction.

THE NEW AMERICAN STATE.

Three of the five Central American republics have had a surfeit of hyperlocal politics. After 50 years of going it on their own hook they have decided that there are limits, after all, to the blessings derived by a small state from having its own way in every whim and impulse. The reunion of Honduras, Guatemala and Salvador creating the new nation of the Central American Federation, is, as indicating a tendency, one of the most interesting developments in Pan-American politics of recent years.

As bearing upon the past it signifies a desire among Latin-American peoples to court stability and advance the larger public interest in contrast to the old era of volatile governments, easy revolutions, and exploitation by demagogues on the one hand and petty dictators on the other. As bearing on the future the Central American reunion indicates that the gospel of federated sovereignties is on the ascendant and that even so warm-blooded a people as the Central Americans has succumbed at last to the sober counsel of union and stability as against the supreme local prerogative with its wretched consequences.

The new American state is not yet complete. Nicaragua and Costa Rica still cling, temporarily at least, to their nationalism, the one rejecting reunion by a vote of 20 to 19 in its National Assembly, the other demurring over differences in the interpretation of a treaty with the United States relative to the historic project of a Nicaraguan interoceanic canal.

Even in its present amputated condition, however, the new union of American states is a progressive step in Latin-American evolution and will have the immediate effect of increasing the prestige of these states in the councils of the world.

ALL ABOUT THE MOUNDS.

Sir: I seen in your Sunday Edition where the Mounds is being open for to get some idea of who the Mound builders were. I was thinking that Lete the Red (as we call him in Denmark) land in this country about the year 1000, if not some of his crew should have got out here and settled down in a country there like as much like Denmark. The Danes about the year 1000 was Moundbuilders and they also buried a chiftans treasures with him. There is all kinds of mounds in Denmark and if I remember right some of them has well preserved chambers, also I think that the treasures was lost as Mound robbing was quit a business at onetime. Now the possibility of any connection between the tow may have been exploit and exploit long ago but I have not heart of it. I am not writing this for Publishing but if you want to print it you can if you correct it as to spelling and grammar. But I thought that if this connection had not been tryet before you could put it up to the proper people. A DANE. Coulterville, Ill.

Possibly more of us do not read the market page because what happens is stated too prosaically. One of the attractions of the sport page is the live speech, employed by sport writers. Therefore let us commend the Globe-Democrat, which has abandoned stereotyped terms in its news of the grain market and gives us this:

WHEAT FUTURES—Prices were 1/2c better than Saturday at the opening, effect of which was momentarily chilled by a downturn of 1 1/2 @ 1 1/4c, when the tenor of advice became rather stimulating, offerings slipped off smartly and the market ran up 2 1/4c amid a great flurry in the grain pit, but the speculative situation soon underwent a complete change in the opposite direction—off 2 1/2 @ 7 1/2c in a hurry.

There is a great deal of text on any market page. Maybe if it were popularized people would not have to read the novels of Harold Bell Wright.

We are afraid the St. Louis resolution asking that the Obregon Government be recognized will encounter Washington's woeen ear. Texas and California have both tried to get recognition for Mexico, and neither has been able to get the slightest rise out of our State Department.

We might feel more comfortable about this if Mr. Hughes would tell us why Mexico cannot enjoy our good will since all the obstacles between the two countries appear to have been removed. Is there an insuperable obstacle of which it is embarrassing to speak?

Sir: With you I agree, the Gary Schwab wink is a powerful wink. Quite powerful enough to jail Debs, deport thousands, heave bombs in preparedness day parades and make bombs hang old Paul Prager and in general make the people loony wild for killing or a docile bunch of starving asses. Just as the wink will it. All through the soul and brain selling press, pulpit and politicians. Let's go duck hunting and forget it. JACK TAUNT.

It was on Oct. 13 that Columbus landed upon San Salvador, but if one were to judge by the way in which the discovery was celebrated on yesterday we are in some doubt of its importance. It was, really, more important than appears; but after having been drawn into one of the wars of Europe and participating in its hates and follies we naturally cannot help feeling that Columbus probably landed too soon.

A New Jersey man whose name was Trotsky has symbolized our impatience with political reform by having his name changed.

Sir: Justice and vindication of the Post-Dispatch's policy toward certain forms of local law enforcement should justify you in publishing the following: On Grand and Easton, at the northwest corner, there are elaborately painted signs exposed in the window of a pool room, cigar store, etc., bearing the following words, exactly as printed:

My business has been ruined by Millers night riders. I have been raided 137 times in the last 124 days. One petty conviction with suspended sentence has been the result. They could do better in church. I am selling out at costs.

When these signs first appeared in this man's windows the police went promptly in and tore them down. The proprietor then went to the proper authorities and the signs are there to stay until he vacates, he tells me.

THE VEILED PROPHET PARADE.
(With Apologies to Walt Whitman.)

We went to the Veiled Prophet parade. And took our three children—Tillman, Lewis and Walter.

We stood in the street; The gutter beside us was not overly clean. Lewis is only four. The other two lads under eight.

The crowd was packed around us. Suddenly there was a cry. "The parade is coming!" A solid mass of humanity surged forward, craning necks, standing on tiptoe to see. Daddy took Lewis on his shoulders; the other two lads, weeping, clung to me.

There were many children in that crowd that night. Who did not see one single bright light. Not one glimpse of the tinsel and gold Of all that gaudy array.

I stood in the street, near the gutter. And, looking up to my right, I saw four score or more empty windows Staring blankly into the night.

Those windows could have been wonderful boxes For hundreds of little folks to have seen The gay procession— The magic court of a Fairy Queen.

But, alas! a sad lack in our learning! A sad mystery in our power! The windows of the University Club Building, mostly, were vacant— While children wept and clamored to see.

The parade is over. Silent, disappointed, the people turn homeward. Many for hours on the way. RACHAEL MARTIN.

OUR RELATIONS WITH CHINA.

From the Pittsburgh Telegraph-Chronicle. THE renunciation by the United States, more than a score of years ago, of its share of the indemnity to be paid by China on account of the Boxer rebellion was regarded at the time as one of the most idealistic acts ever performed by a Government. It was taken at the suggestion of Secretary John Hay, whose name will be forever associated with the enlightened policy of the "open door" in China.

European Governments among whom the $20,000,000 of indemnity was to be allotted, were rather discontented by America's altruism, but none followed suit. It was a brand-new precedent in international dealings. The way of the old school of diplomacy was to grab all you could get, hesitating to take advantage of another nation's necessities. China gratefully devoted the millions thus remitted to the cause of educating her young men in American universities. Ever since these chosen youth have been coming to our country, receiving not only an academic or technical education, but obtaining a correct understanding of American conditions and opinions, and especially our real feelings concerning China, and they have gone home to become ambassadors of good will between the nations.

Now comes word that a British parliamentary commission, appointed to consider what should be its Government's attitude toward the Chinese, has demitted, reports in favor of remitting the portion that remains unpaid, stipulating that the money be used for Chinese education. Commenting on the example set by our Government, the commission says: "American interests in China are advanced by the respect, trust and affection of the Chinese to a degree that no other nation enjoys."

JAPANESE IN SIBERIA.

Nathaniel Peffer in the Nation.

A YEAR ago only, when the special assembly of the Far Eastern Republic was convened at Chita and a bid was made for foreign recognition when the whole future of Siberia was possible, recasting, America did not compromise itself by heeding the call, did not thus violate its conceived faithfulness to civilization's trust. We frustrated every effort to realize the sole possibility of bringing about the only condition that would give the world unquestioned right to insist on Japan's withdrawal and leave Japan no imperial base ground for remaining—We, I say, meaning Americans, because Americans more than any other people were subject to bolshevik hallucinations. We not only refused to recognize the Far Eastern Republic, we not only refused to encourage the establishment of a government, we actually defeated any attempt to establish one. We made stability in Siberia impossible. We are exactly what the Japanese militarists and imperialists wanted us to do. We opened the door for Japanese aggression. And now we have brought about this, the inevitable conclusion. We have overthrown the government in Eastern Siberia and enthroned Japan. The same mistake that applauded when Japan began to execute its design, now that the design has been executed, voices its suspicion of Japanese intentions. The same Government that connived at the accomplishment of Japan's purposes, now calls for Eastern conferences to discuss the results. The issue, however, artificially created, will be pressed. We shall come to see that while in the last few years we have tried to obstruct every imperialistic ambition of Japan we have actually helped realize one of its major ambitions.

Do the Japanese hate us? It is a question that has been asked many times. The answer is, Yes and No.
That is the most accurate answer to discuss. Some Japanese obviously do not. There is no undue ponderance of sentiment on one side or the other.

How are you going to tell? It is obvious that in matters such as these there is little to go on except personal experience and observation—and that personal experience and observation can vary widely. One tourist's lands in San Francisco with a picture of the Japanese as militarists in public and handits in private. Another tourist has had a rosy time of it all the way from Nikko to Osaka.

The same diversity of opinion marks the testimony of those American cases who are not tourists, but residents of Japan. Two men who have lived long enough in Kobe to qualify as professional interpreters of Japan will often contradict each other flatly. In gauging such things as "hatred," "popularity" and "distrust," the reaction of any observer is essentially personal. It makes little difference what part of Japan he is describing, or whether he has been there 10 years, months or 10 hours. His own experiences are all he has to go by.

For my own part, I cannot testify that in Japan I have ever experienced a hint of a mob, or a detective. I cast no doubt upon the tales of other witnesses; I simply report my own adventures. The worst I have ever had to put up with is the high school student, who, studying English, seeks to try to put on whatever traveler falls into his clutches aboard a train or in a railway station. But such industry on a student's part is not to be regarded as an insult.

Courteous as Any Others.
This is negative testimony, evidence of insults, which have never been received. To put the matter affirmatively: It has been my lot in various parts of the country to be treated courteously and considerately by the Japanese as by any other people with whom I have come in contact.

Nor have I felt that I was being rebuffed by people who considered robbing an American to be a patriotic duty. Expensive taxi drivers and hotel proprietors, merchant who charge all they can get, exist in Broadway and Main street as well as Tokio and Osaka. As for the merchants in smaller cities and the villages, I have occasionally had one of them pursue me for three blocks to return a coin which I had overlooked him. Five sen is enough to buy a postage stamp. Perhaps if it had been more he would have kept it for the street. Special considerations are sometimes shown Americans on the occasion of our national holiday. On the Fourth of July this year I happened to be in Kobe. The city was decorated with American flags, and the evening the orchestra of the principal hotel played "Star Spangled Banner," and other American national anthems.

U. S. Is Target of Jingo Press.
All this was the work of merchants and hotel proprietors, and not of the man in the street. Still, the bare fact that American flags can flutter in the streets of Japan on one sunny day and not incite a riot is itself at variance with the picture of Japan prevalent in many quarters of America.

Turning from the man in the street to the newspapers which he reads, what evidence is there of hatred? Japan has its jingo papers and of existing issues at the Conference to Limit Armament to be held in Washington in November? Are her differences with the United States irreconcilable? Is she ruled by her militarists? Is she Prussianized?

Does she really hate us? What of her attitude toward China? Is she seeking world domination?
These questions and others are being answered in a series of articles specially written for the Post-Dispatch by Charles Merz, until recently associate editor of the New Republic, who has just returned from Japan and the Far East.

By CHARLES MERZ,

(Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch)
(Copyright, 1921, by the Press Publishing Co.) Do the Japanese hate us? It is like asking, "Do Americans read good books?" The answer is, Yes and No. Some do, some don't.
That is the most accurate answer to the question this article proposes to discuss. Some Japanese obviously do hate Americans, others just as obviously do not. There is no unanimity about it. But is there a preponderance of sentiment on one side or the other? If so, on which side of the fence?

How are you going to tell? It is possible to measure accurately such things as wealth and population and appropriations for a navy. But when it comes to measuring hate, the material consists of such volatile ingredients as the treatment of American tourists, the attitude of the Japanese press, the comparative popularity of jingo and non-jingo publications, the little toward American goods.

It is obvious that in matters such as these there is little to go on ex-no more conclusive than the next man's.

I have heard of Americans being hunted at in the streets of Japan, told by a Japling mob, "Go away, businesslike detectives. Should any of this sort happen there is never any doubt about its prompt publication in America. One newspaper proprietor with a string of agents has a reporter on the want in San Francisco to meet incoming steamers. "Were you insulted in Japan?" is one of his first questions.

For my own part, I cannot testify

PUBLICITY QUESTION IS DISCUSSED BY U. S. DELEGATES

Recommendation to Open Conference Doors at Formal Votes on Question Pending Before Body.

PART AT DINNER AT THE WHITE HOUSE

State Department Announces Pacific Cables Have Been Added to List of Subjects to Be Taken Up.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The American delegation to the armament conference held its first meeting yesterday, effected a permanent organization, made a general survey of the data gathered for its guidance and began discussion of the questions of policy that are to characterize the position of this government in the coming negotiations.

One of the first specific subjects considered was the problem of open or closed sessions for the armament conference and discussion is said to have revealed considerable sentiment for opening the doors whenever the entire body of delegates meets to register important decisions.

Other and broader questions of policy also were given detailed examination during the three and a half hour meeting of the delegation and last night the delegates continued their discussions and heard the views of President Harding at the White House dinner. No date was set for the next meeting but it was indicated that another consultation would probably be held early next week.

Plan for Publicity.

None of those present at the meeting would reveal details of the deliberations regarding publicity for the conference sessions, but the impression was given that this Government might lay before the delegates after they assemble here on Nov. 11 a proposal that all full sessions of the conference be open to the press. The recommendation, it was said, would not apply to the meetings of individual national delegations, committees or other subordinate bodies where the real decision making is likely to be made, but would give publicity to such gatherings as that which will mark the opening of the conference and to the sessions at which formal votes on pending questions are taken.

The question, however, is one which the conference itself must decide, and it is expected that the American delegation will take every precaution not to appear to urge its own opinions on the representatives of the other Powers. It is pointed out that the plan for open sessions for the full conference is in accord with a resolution presented by Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi, and now pending in the Senate.

Hughes to Be Spokesman.
Yesterday's meeting of the delegates was held in the office of Secretary Hughes, head of the delegation, whose colleagues, Elihu Root, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and Senator Charles McNary, formally delegated him to act as spokesman in making public such details as seemed practicable. After Hughes announced the selection of Basil Miles, a former chief of the State Department's Russian Division, as secretary of the delegation, he made it known that the meeting was taken up largely with a review of the data collected by Government agencies for the information of the American representatives.

Full information also was supplied delegates with regard to the physical preparations made for the conference sessions was given endorsement, and the delegation made suggestions regarding the allotment of space for delegations and committees there and in the wine of the Navy Department Building adjacent to the State Department.

At home three religions have vied with one another for many hundreds of years without producing a conflict remotely comparable with the religious wars that have blighted Western nations after another. Japan's domestic quarrels, like her foreign wars, have been political and economic struggles. Chans, rather than religions, have locked horns.

Today there are perhaps 175,000 Japanese Christians in the Mikado's empire. Religious indifference there may be, but little religious intolerance.

Applaud Pro-Christian Film.
That is so generally recognized by Christians in Japan, and foreign residents that the average observer in Japan does not hunt for evidence to prove it. Occasionally a fact comes stumbling across his path. In the Imperial Theater in Tokio a few weeks ago that happened in my own case.

A play then on the program—probably still on the program—told an incident from the life of a Christian girl, some 300 years ago. She was a courtesan. She became a Christian.

Lord Robert Cecil as Reflected in "Mirrors of Downing Street"

Author of Essays on British Public Men Regards Him as a Man Fitted for Leadership but Who Does Not Lead.

UNDER the title, "The Mirrors of Downing Street—Some Political Reflections," an anonymous English author who signs himself "A Gentleman With a Donkey," has written a series of interesting character sketches of men prominent in the political life of England. The publication of the articles in book form in England was followed by the publication in the United States of "The Mirrors of Downing Street," the unsparing frankness of which, comparable to that of the English volume, caused considerable comment in the national capital. Following is one of the series:

"Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm,"—Emerson.
If a novelist take for his hero an educated gentleman who expresses contempt for the license and indecencies of modern life, it is to be that the critics, who confess themselves on other occasions as sick of puritan tales, will pronounce this hero to be a prig. In like manner, let a politician evince concern for the moral character of the nation and it is to his colleagues in the House of Commons and his critics in the press, and everywhere the very men most in despair of politics, will declare him to be a fanatic.

This has been the unfortunate fate of Lord Robert Cecil. He is regarded by his countrymen as unpractical.
Men speak well of him, and confess willingly that he is vastly superior in character and intellect to the run of politicians, but nevertheless wind up their panegyric with the regretful judgment that, alas, he is a fanatic.

It is a thousand pities, I think, that he is not a fanatic. It is for the very reason he is not a fanatic that his progress in politics has been in the suburbs of the second rank. He has every quality for the first rank, and for the foremost part of his career, he has shown a passion of enthusiasm. It is a sense of humor, an engaging sense of diffidence, a continual deviation towards a mild and gentle cynicism, it is this spirit —the very antithesis of a fanatic —which keeps him from leadership.

Always a Gentleman.

The nation has reason on its side for suspecting Lord Robert Cecil.
In the mind of the British people there is more settled than the conviction that the country is in the hands of a great captain are courage and confidence. He has given no sign of these qualities. He appears upon the platform as a gentleman makes his entrance into a drawing room, not with the pomp and circumstance of a statesman, but with the ease of a gentleman expressing his views at a dinner table, not as an all-house politician airs his dogmatism in the club room. The very quality which gives him grace and power to his personality, being spiritual qualities, prevent him from capturing the loud and grateful loyalty of a political party.

Now, while a man like Lloyd George can only afford his own exercise by the exercise of what we may call brute force, and by making use of vulgar methods from which a person of Lord Robert Cecil's quality would shrink, it is nevertheless not at all necessary for a man of noble character and greater power to employ the same means in order to earn the confidence of his countrymen.

What is necessary in this case is not brute force but fanaticism, and by fanatical devotion to a cause, he can in Cromwell induced Hume to call him "this fanatical hypocrite," and which Burke adequately defined in saying that when men are fanatically fond of an object they will perpetrate the most heinous crimes.

Lord Robert Cecil need not adopt the tricks of a mountebank to achieve leadership of the British nation, but he must contract so entire a faith in the sacred character of his mission that all the ignominious virtues of his moral nature will be henceforth seem to him like the whisperings of temptation. He must cease to watch the shifts of public opinion. He must cease merely to recommend the probable advantage of rather more idealism in the politics of Europe. He must act.

From the very beginning of the war Lord Cecil perceived that the need of the nation was not for a great political leader, but for a great moral leader. He told me so with an unforgettable emphasis, well aware that under the public show of the national life the heart of the British people was famishing for such guidance. He numbered himself among those anxiously scanning the horizon for such a leader. He should have been instead answering the inarticulate cry of the people for that leader.

Believes in People.
No good man of my acquaintance is so fanatically convinced of the goodness of British nature. He watches the British people with an abiding affection. He believes that they possess, even those whom he may deem degraded and wicked, the foundations of a virtuous Christian character—a love of justice, an instinct for kindness, and faith in truth.

He is convinced that no moral appeal has ever been made to the British people in vain. And yet he has

NAVY MADE SAMOA HAPPY AND HEALTHY TRAVELER ASSERTS

Frederick O'Brien Says It Is Only Part of All Polynesia Not Losing Population.

FREDERICK O'BRIEN PRAISES METHODS

Author of "White Shadows of the South Seas" Finds Our Administration There a Real Philanthropy.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—American Samoa, managed by the United States Navy, of all Polynesia is the happiest and healthiest section and alone is increasing in population. All other Polynesians are diminishing into extinction.

These statements were made here recently by Frederick O'Brien, traveler and writer of books on life on the islands of the Southern Pacific.
O'Brien has just returned from another long sojourn among the natives of Samoa.

O'Brien said Capt. Waldo M. Evans, representing the United States Navy in the government of American Samoa, is an autocrat of the islands. He is entrusted with great powers over the population that has ever been accorded any American by our Government. As a result, Samoa is today a happy and increasing in population.

"People's Words of Navy."
"Ever since Samoa was taken over by America," said O'Brien, "it has been conducted as a naval station, and the whole population have been various of the best. During the influenza epidemic British Samoa lost 8,000 men, women and children. The American navy shut the disease out of American Samoa, and there was practically no loss.

"I have been for 20 years visiting Polynesia. Everywhere, except in American Samoa, there is depopulation. In this comparison I include Hawaii, Tahiti, the Marquesas, the Fanning Islands, New Zealand, and the people of a hundred other islands.

"The particular disease which has made sterile and devastated the Pol-ynesians is unknown in American Samoa. It has attacked the people and prevented their increase.

"American Samoa happy."
"The American Samoans remain simple, clean, healthy and merry.
They still have few wants other than the necessities of life. They are not fond of the luxuries of the world. They were surprised—think of it!—by the world's indignation."

Showed Deep Reflection.
In this remark you may see how far deeper his reflections take him than those of a man who is a man of the masses, for reflection among the propagandists of hate, Abuse of Germany never occupied his mind, which was sorrowfully engaged in striving to comprehend the spiritual condition of the German people; he realized, that is to say, that we were not fighting an enemy who could be shouted down or made ashamed by abusive epithets, but that we were opposing a spirit whose anger and temper were entirely different from our own, and therefore a spirit which would be understood if we were to conquer it.

Every now and then he has in his mind the nation see what was his for the League of Nations as a way of those illuminating those surely inspired, words of Edith Cavell as the text for more than one address—
"Patriotism is not enough." But beautiful and convincing as these addresses have been, their spirit has delivered with that spirit of cocksureness which has grown with him in the last few years, I noticed Lord Robert make a pencilled note on a slip of paper and pass it across the gangway with nod of his head to ward Lord Hugh.

Kept Sweden Out of War.
I watched the journey of this little paper and watched to see its effect. Lord Hugh unfolded the slip of paper, read it, smiled very boyishly all over his face, and, folding it up again, slowly turned his head and looked towards his brother.
The smile he exchanged was a Cecilian biography. One saw in the light of that instant and whole-hearted smile the danger of a keen sense of ironical humor. Both these men have the making of creative fanatics; in both of them there is an intense moral earnestness; but delivered with that spirit of cock-
sureness which has grown with him
in the last few years, I noticed Lord Robert make a pencilled note on a
slip of paper and pass it across the
gangway with nod of his head to ward Lord Hugh.

Co-operation in St. Louis.
"Personally we have no complaint
to make against the prosecuting authorities in the city of St. Louis, or the judges; but we are blessed in St.
Louis with a condition which does not exist throughout the country. In a great many cities in which crime is prevalent the prosecuting authorities are lax in their duties, and the courts are open to influence. Without the support of the prosecuting
authorities and the courts, effective police work is out of the question. I say, and plenty of others familiar with the situation will agree, that the administration of criminal law in this country is a disgrace to our civilization, and primarily the increase in crime and fraud is due largely to the failure of the law and its administration to bring criminals to justice.

"The laws are made to protect the law-abiding people from activities of criminals. In practice, however,
laws are used to protect criminals,
and the sooner our laws are changed
to meet modern conditions just that soon will crime decrease. Under our law the accused cannot be made to
of the consequences of law violation."

LAWS SERVE, IN PRACTICE, TO PROTECT CRIMINALS, SAYS POLICE BOARD HEAD

Miller, in Luncheon Address, Declares Lawlessness More Prevalent Than Ever and Gives Opinion of Causes and Remedies.

Victor J. Miller, president of the Board of Police Commissioners, in a luncheon address today at Hotel Statler before the Rotary Club, declared that in practice the laws are used to protect criminals, and the sooner the laws are changed to meet modern conditions just that soon will crime decrease.

The spirit of lawlessness, he added, is more prevalent than ever. In his opinion the three principal causes of the spirit of lawlessness are politics, the "disgraceful failure" of the administration of justice, and the attitude of the public generally toward the criminal after he has been apprehended.

The Commissioner asserted that force and education will aid in the decrease of lawlessness—force in instilling the fear of consequences of law violation, and education in teaching young persons law obedience.

Says Crimes Are Increasing.
In part, Commissioner Miller said:
"To me as Police Commissioner the most important condition now confronting our country, our State and our city, is the spirit of lawlessness, which in recent years has increased to such an extent that it almost borders on anarchy and upon rebellion to our so-called perfect system of government. The crimes committed by the James boys, the Youngers, and others of their day, no more compare with the crimes committed by the bandits of today than the stealing of a milk bottle compares with the holding up of a bank in a downtown district.

"Those familiar with the subject of crime must agree that in seriousness and in numbers, crimes are steadily increasing, and this statement is proven almost beyond a doubt by the fact that the penitentiaries are fuller, the jails are fuller, there are more pending criminal indictments than ever before, and there are more arrests being made by the various police departments than ever before.

"Statistics for the number of cases pending in the state courts are not available; but statistics in the Federal courts show that in the year 1919 there were pending criminal indictments in 5503 cases, while in 1921 there are over 70,000 criminal indictments pending. It is true that 25,000 to 30,000 of these 70,000 criminal indictments arise under the prohibition law; but, eliminating these, there is an increase of over 400 per cent in crime in nine years, and this increase in proportion to the increase in population is alarming.

"Embezzlements Increased Fivefold.
"Statistics are not available to show the value of money stolen, but in 1914 the losses paid by casualty insurers in population is alarming.
$364,000, while in 1920 these losses increased to over $1,000,000, and in this same period embezzlements have increased fivefold. Payroll robberies, bank robberies, robberies of the holdup of railroad trains, are an everyday occurrence.

"The machinery of the administration of justice has always controlled and always will control the robberies, bank robberies, and the lawlessness, and the police department is only one part of the machinery of justice. The duties of the police department as prescribed by law are to apprehend offenders, and to start the wheels in the administration of justice. The prosecuting officials, the courts, and the prisons take up the operation where the police leave off. Therefore, you can see that the operation of justice, while it is a single operation, works through a number of agencies, and to be effective all agencies must work towards the same end and work in harmony.

Co-operation in St. Louis.
"Personally we have no complaint
to make against the prosecuting authorities in the city of St. Louis, or
the judges; but we are blessed in St.
Louis with a condition which does not exist throughout the country. In a great many cities in which crime
is prevalent the prosecuting authorities are lax in their duties, and the courts are open to influence. With-
out the support of the prosecuting
authorities and the courts, effective
police work is out of the question. I say, and plenty of others familiar with the situation will agree, that
the administration of criminal
law in this country is a disgrace to
our civilization, and primarily the
increase in crime and fraud is due
largely to the failure of the law and
its administration to bring criminals
to justice.

"The laws are made to protect the
law-abiding people from activities of
criminals. In practice, however,
laws are used to protect criminals,
and the sooner our laws are changed
to meet modern conditions just that soon will crime decrease. Under our law the accused cannot be made to
of the consequences of law violation."

"The great majority of crimes are now being committed by young men from 17 to 25 years of age, whose minds are more susceptible than the minds of older people, and we must, if we are to cope with the spirit of lawlessness, instill into their minds with the means in our power a fear of the consequences of law violation."

"The attitude of the public towards persons accused of crime has also contributed to the spirit of lawlessness now existing. The American people have always sympathized with the underdog, or sympathized with whom they thought might be an underdog, and who cannot expect justice, prosecuting authorities and courts in administering justice who are in accord with public opinion. The sooner the public demands swift, sure and speedy punishment to those who have violated the law, just that sooner will you have a more just

Epsom Salts like Lemonade

Ask for "Epsom Salts" hereafter

A few cents buys a handy package of "Epsom Salts" which looks and acts exactly like lemonade. A real epsom salt combined with fruit derivative salts, giving it the taste of sparkling lemonade. A tablespoonful in a glass of cold water whenever you feel bilious, head-achy or constipated, will give you a splendid epsom salt physic without the awful taste and nausea. "Epsom Salts" is the much talked of discovery of the American Epsom Association.

These Pajamas Will Stand Wear

It needs very durable cloth to make satisfactory pajamas, yet it must be comfortably soft. For years, Fruit of the Loom has been found the ideal material by women who make pajamas and nightshirts for their men-folks.

Now leading manufacturers of night-wear are using Fruit of the Loom, and you can buy these articles ready-made at the stores. Look for the Fruit of the Loom label in pajamas and nightshirts. Garments so marked are full-sized, carefully made, and give exceptionally long wear.

Fruit of the Loom Muslin

For seventy years women have been making sheets and pillow cases of Fruit of the Loom. You can also buy ready-made sheets and pillow cases of this standard muslin at most good stores.

Fruit of the Loom is all muslin—no chalk filler. It launders perfectly and keeps its fine finish through long, hard service.

Whether you are buying muslin by the yard or ready-made articles, ask for Fruit of the Loom and identify it by the label.

SOME RESENTMENT TOWARD AMERICA, BUT NO HATRED

ences in America, they portray an America of interest to Japan. They are an antidote to hatred.

If the affairs of the two countries ever come to a real crisis, a commission composed of Charlie Chaplin, Douglas and Mary and Bill Hart might work wonders in Japan.

Such is the evidence, culled from various places, which I can bring to bear upon the question whether America is hated in Japan. But if all these varied observations seem to point against the theory that "hatred" dominates Japan, it would be idle to imply also that there is no "resentment" toward America. Such resentment is everywhere in evidence—in conversation, in the press, in manifestos. It is fed by a series of suspicious and events. The American Congress, for instance, enacts a shipping law, and the Osaka Chamber of Commerce declares it to be "economic imperialism and tantamount to a declaration of economic war upon Japan."

In the main, however, such resentment is today based upon three grounds—the far-famed California land legislation, the attitude of the American Government toward the question of "racial equality" at the Paris conference, and the anti-Japanese riots which from time to time take place in some section of America.

Two bits of American news reached Tokyo within four days of one another, in the second week of July. One was Mr. Harding's invitation to discuss world peace in Washington; the other was news that 29 Japanese had been run out of Livingston, Cal., packed aboard a railway truck.

There is, I should conclude, a lively resentment toward America in Japan, no great amount of racial or religious hatred.

Is it absurd to draw a line between "resentment" and "hatred"? One, to be sure, can easily be turned into the other.

But there is at least this difference, of importance at the moment: While hatred is capricious and unreasoning, resentment can often be brushed away by removing, or intelligently explaining, those causes upon which it rests.

2 FRENCH PRISONERS, LOOSED IN WRECK, HELP RESCUE INJURED
Guards Killed, They Then Go to Algeria to Serve Sentences; Pardon Expected.
Correspondence of the Associated Press.
LYONS, France, Sept. 28.—Handcuffed in pairs and in charge of four gendarmes, 12 French military prisoners en route for Algeria to serve sentences ranging from five to 15 years were aboard the Strasbourg-Marseilles express when it jumped the track at Les Echets a few miles from here. Forty passengers were killed and 70 injured.

None of the prisoners was seriously hurt, but three gendarmes were killed and the other, pinned under the wreckage, lay seriously wounded.
All semblance of authority and order had disappeared. The prisoners were free, but, instead of running away, they pulled the wounded gen-darmes out of the tangled mass of wood and iron and laid him on the grass. During the night they rescued 31 injured passengers. Then they gave themselves up.

They have since left for Algeria to serve their sentences, but it is understood that the Minister of War is studying the case and the opinion is expressed that, in due course of red tape, they will be pardoned.

309,058,000-BUSHEL CORN CROP IN ILLINOIS INDICATED
Yield Below Earlier Expectations, But About 15,100,000 Bushels Greater Than Last Year.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 13.—On present indications, a crop of about 309,058,000 bushels of corn will be harvested in Illinois, and of 2,163-850,000 bushels in the United States, according to the monthly report of S. D. Fessenden, U. S. agricultural statistician here.

At the beginning of October much of the crop had been cut and silos had been practically all filled. The crop was out of all danger from frost.

"The Illinois crop has been going through an unusual number of vicissitudes this season," said Fessenden, "and it seems quite likely that, in the end, yields may prove to be disappointments, falling considerably below expectations, that the quality of the grain will not be high, and that the amount of merchantable corn in the crop will be under the average."

The corn crop is 15,100,000 bushels greater this year than last.

A yield of 14.5 bushels of wheat an acre is predicted for Illinois, indicating a total production of 3,611,000 compared with 4,950,000 last year and a three-year average production of 6,877,000. A crop of 196,451,000 is forecast for the United States, compared with 258,496,000 bushels in 1920. A large per cent of last year's wheat crop has been marketed and the amount remaining on the farms is small.

The average yield of oats in Illinois is estimated at 26.3 bushels, forecasting a crop of 14,083,000 bushels against 161,950,000 bushels in 1920 and a five-year average of 186,096,000 bushels. The yield for the United States is placed at 1,075-896,000 bushels, compared with 1-526,055,000 last year.

Prohibition Agent Seizes C. M.
Burke's Auto and Several Bottles—Burke Denies Charge.

Charles M. Burke, 44 years old, of 1800 Belmont avenue, East St.
Louis, former chief of the East St.
Louis fire department and now proprietor of a drink stand on St. Clair avenue, was arrested last evening by M. T. Kiggins, chief prohibition enforcement officer, on charges of transportation and possession of liquor.

Kiggins arrested Burke as he stepped from the West Hotel, on Missouri avenue, near Relay Station, to enter his automobile. Kiggins confiscated the automobile, valued at $6000, and two suit cases containing bottles of liquor which Kiggins says is whiskey.

Burke denied knowledge of the liquor being in his automobile.

Do You Look Forward To a Good Night's Rest?

Do you regularly anticipate a refreshing sleep? Or do you dread going to bed, only to stare, sleepless, at the walls? The difference between sleeping and staring is simply a matter of nerves.

When your nervous system is in a sound condition, you are certain to sleep well. But when your nerves are worn out and beyond your control, your rest is broken and your awakening leaves you languid and irritable.

Doctors know that much of the nerve disorders result from tea and coffee drinking. The drugs in these drinks over-stimulate, often causing the serious ills which result from disturbing the regular bodily functions. It is for your health's sake that many doctors now say you should quit tea and coffee. Drink Postum, the delicious meal-time beverage instead! In flavor it is much like coffee.

Postum is fundamentally a nerve strengthener because it lets you get sound, restful sleep.
Postum is a skilfully-made cereal beverage, and the secret of its popularity is its protection to health and its delicious flavor.

Ask your grocer for Postum.
Drink this hot, refreshing beverage in place of tea or coffee for 10 days and see what a wonderful difference it will make in the way you feel.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water.
Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Just the Kind of Floor for the Hospital

IN this corridor of the Children's Mercy Hospital, Kansas City, the floor is Armstrong's Linoleum. This floor was selected because it is quiet, comfortable to walk on and stand on, gives good wear under the hardest usage, and is easier to clean than any other floor.

Floors of Armstrong's Linoleum are inexpensive in both first cost and upkeep. They do not require expensive refinishing and are kept in good condition by ordinary care.

If you are planning a hospital, a library, a school, a public building, or an office building, or if you are going to lay new floors in store or office, be sure to consult your architect, contractor, or any good linoleum dealer about Armstrong's Linoleum. We shall be glad to send him data and specifications for laying.

A good way to install Armstrong's Linoleum as a permanent floor is to cement it down firmly over a layer of builders' felt paper. A floor so laid remains tight, smooth, and absolutely waterproof.

All Armstrong's Linoleum is guaranteed to give entire satisfaction. You can identify it by the Circle "A" trademark on the burlap back.

DEFENSE TESTIMONY AT MACAULEY TRIAL

Evidence Bearing on Plaintiff's Claim of Good Character Heard.

Taking of testimony for the defense was continued today in Judge Falkenhainer's division of the Circuit Court in the suit of Alexander P. Macauley of Toronto, Canada, against the Pulitzer Publishing Co. (Post-Dispatch), for $200,000 damages on account of publication of the arrest of Macauley here on Jan. 2, 1917, on suspicion of forgery.

The testimony offered by the defendant yesterday bore upon the assertion of Macauley in his petition that he had a wide reputation as a person of good character and enjoyed the trust and confidence of the public at the time of his arrest.

Hotel Man's Deposition.
Charles Mayne of the Freeman Hotel, Montreal, Canada, whose deposition was read, testified that Macauley had owed that hotel a bill of over $200 since August, 1911, for room rent, meals, cash advances, medical attention and nursing. Macauley, when on the stand the day before, admitted that when he left the hotel he did not pay this bill, but said he had paid it since and promised to produce his check book later to prove it.

John J. Keely, a city detective, who was at the head of a private detective agency when Macauley was arrested, testified that Bert Fenn, Macauley's attorney, asked him to find a "double" for Macauley in St. Louis. Keely said he told Fenn that Judge Ben Clark bore some resemblance to Macauley, but he did not know anybody who resembled Macauley sufficiently to qualify as a double, and declined to undertake to find a double. Keely said that while they were discussing the matter in Macauley's presence, Macauley asked: "Do I look like a crook?" Keely did not answer him, he said.

Fred T. Enright, a Montreal attorney, whose deposition was read, testified that he prosecuted Macauley in June, 1911, for assaulting John Black. Macauley, he said, pleaded guilty of common assault and was fined $20. Macauley then borrowed $50 from Enright and never paid it back. Enright obtained a judgment for the amount, but he failed to collect it. Enright said Macauley's reputation was bad for integrity and honesty, but he loaned him the $50 because he admired the courage of a man who asked a loan from the lawyer who had just prosecuted him and thought that sort of a man would repay the loan. "I took a gamble on him paying," he testified, "and lost."

Had Heard Comments.
Questioned further about Macauley's reputation, Enright said he had heard comments from time to time and had been warned to "look out for Macauley," who was "as crooked as a corkscrew."

Percy Ryan of Montreal deposed that he paid Macauley about $1000 for some mining property which turned out to be of no value, either existing or prospective. Ryan said he was not aware of Macauley being connected with any active producing mining property, but he sold some claims. He said Macauley's reputation was that of a rolling stone, a gunman and a fighter, who indulged freely in intoxicants and was very violent when intoxicated; dealt in fake mining claims and boasted of his prowess as a fighter. He added that Macauley went on a terrible spree after Ryan gave him the $1000. Macauley, he said, was nicknamed "Bull."

John B. Hendricks, 3224 St. Louis avenue, the Post-Dispatch reporter who wrote the article on which Macauley sued, told of the information he received from the police, on which the article was based, and of being present when Macauley was pointed out by several persons as the man who had passed a check at the Stix, Baer & Fuller store and had tried to pass one at the store of the Famous & Barry Co.

Testimony of Reporter.
Kenneth G. Bellairs, 6748 West Park place, police reporter for the St. Louis Star, gave similar testimony.

L. C. Fuller, Assistant Treasurer of the Stix, Baer & Fuller Co.; F. Z. Salomon, manager of the Famous & Barry Co.; A. P. Alphonse, assistant superintendent; C. P. Jackson, credit man, and Mrs. Blanch Rents, house detective, testified to having identified Macauley as the man who presented the checks. All of them were positive, and Jackson said he had scrutinized the man carefully, and made very particular note of his appearance because he suspected that the check he offered was forged.

Police Captain John P. Hannegan, who was a detective sergeant in 1917, told of having arrested Macauley at the Hamilton Hotel, at the request of a member of the Burns Detective Agency, after Jackson had identified him.

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mossy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies is that Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

Ward's Errors After Yanks Had Lead, May Cost Team $45,000

Loss of Series From Second Baseman's Two Misplays, Would Lessen American League's World Title Share Materially—Mays Doubted to Win Yesterday's Game

By J. Roy Stockton,
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Columbus Day and Yom Kippur, which coincided on the calendar, yesterday, always will stand out in the mind of Aaron Ward, second baseman of the Yankees, as the sad days of his life. For Aaron, today, is burdened with the realization that he furnished the American League champions out of the seventh game of the world series, giving the Giants four victories to the Yankees three, and putting McGraw's machine where one more triumph will give it the world's championship and the winners' share of the gate receipts.

Though the game was perhaps the most thrilling of the series, a contest to rank with the most exciting ever played, the story can be told briefly. It takes no deep insight, no expert's eyes to see the why and wherefore of the Giants' 2-1 victory.

Ward fumbled two infield grounders, each slip developing into a run for the Giants. If the National Leaguers win, and they now are heavy favorites to grab the long end of the money, Ward's twin bobbles, his pair of "boots" will rank in baseball history with the famous $30,000 Knickerbocker muff, which became a byword in 1912 when the Giant outfielder dropped a fly ball which eventually lost the series for the Giants. If the Yanks lose the series, they will receive about $45,000 less than the winners.

Carl Mays, had it not been for Ward's two fumbles, one of which was called a hit by a lenient scorer, would have scored a brilliant 1-0 victory over the Giants. His pitching was deserving of victory. The score credits the Giants with six hits, one was inserted by the official scorer, who chose not to penalize Ward the first time he erred. One of the hits came in the fourth inning after Ward's first bobble. Four of the Giant hits were doubles, but Douglass, the National League's would have gone scoreless had Ward played with his usual steadiness.

Douglas began poorly. He pitched brilliantly after a mediocre start, but he allowed eight hits, all clean bingles, and gave one base on balls. The one run he yielded was earned, pushed over the plate cleanly and despite his fine finish he did not deserve to triumph over his opponent.

The combination of a double today and the fact that the baseball race was nearing the home stretch, brought out a great crowd, which was kept in constant turmoil by the closeness of the struggle. It was divided into three sections, the partisan American Leaguers, the rabid followers of McGraw, and the great mass which included neutral spectators in the borough of Manhattan and outsiders who could voice their glories at the defeat of either gold-rimmed New York baseball club.

Going home the spectators seemed to think the whole affair was about over. Even if Waite Hoyt, the "schoolboy" wonder, can win his win.

Giants, in Front for First Time, Have Shown Great Gameness When Behind

The National Leaguers certainly have shown their courage. They lost the first two games and came from behind each time they scored a victory. Each day the early innings saw them battered or buffed, and each time when they were hanging on by a thread they called forth sufficient reserve strength to scramble back to a safe footing and put themselves in the running again. And now, for the first time, they are out in front in the series. And though they attained that end through the misplays of their enemies, they nevertheless must be given credit for the use of praise for their courageous fight, which was more courageous when the odds against them were heavier, and when the horizon was darkest.

Yanks Took the Lead. They were put on the defensive in the second inning of yesterday's game. In the opening inning it looked dark when Peckinpaugh, after one was down, smashed a double to left. He went to third on Miller's infield cut, but Douglas knocked down Bob Meusel's smash and threw him out with Peck racing home. In the second inning the Yankees scored the only earned run of the game. Pipp led the attack with a double which hit the left field fence, just inside the foul line, on the first bounce. Ward tried to catch the ball, but he failed and the ball rolled toward the infield. On the first bounce, Pipp scored Pipp with a single to right. There Douglas became master and not again did the Yankees see home plate.

In the fourth Frisch tried to beat out a bunt, but Mays was on it speedily and threw him out. Young plunked a puny grounder toward right. Ward had to move for it, but he bounded so modestly that he had plenty of time to shift over in its path, and there was no excuse for his fumble. The official scorer, who has caused more than a little talk and drawn more boos than any umpire, waved a hit sign over their heads.

Kelly was unable to fathom Mays' delivery and struck out for the second time. But on the third strike Young started with Mays' arm moved, stole second. Emil Meusel got the Meusel family's only hit of the day at this timely point. His single to center scored Young with the tying run.

Mays then went along effectively and without being in danger until

World's Series Sidelights

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The Giants will be the "home club" if a fifth game is necessary in the world's series. Charles Evans, secretary to John Heydler, called the toss "head" when Judge Landis flipped a coin in the office of the Polo Grounds before yesterday's battle. No tickets, box seats, reserved seats or unreserved seats will be sold other than at the Polo Grounds. It will be first come, first served for all. The gates will be thrown open to the public at 8:20 a. m. There will be no change in the price of tickets.

Douglas Had Heavy Cold. "I have a heavy cold and did not rest comfortably Tuesday night," said Shufflin' Phil Douglas after his second world series victory over the Yankees at Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon. "I was ill all morning and at that time I thought I would be unable to pitch. My condition improved about 10:00 and when I reported to the clubhouse, I told McGraw that I was ready for the task that awaited me."

Lost Tough Game—Mays. Carl Mays, who pitched great ball, seemed a victim of the breaks of the game. He pitched good ball and the Giants seldom gave him any trouble. Good luck was with the other fellow and I lost a tough ball game."

Mays Had Great Chance. Carl Mays was given a fine opportunity to become a hero among heroes in the seventh inning when two men were out and two were on bases, but he could do no better than to let the Yankees score two runs. He pitched well, but he was unable to get the bases empty. He pitched well, but he was unable to get the bases empty. He pitched well, but he was unable to get the bases empty.

Emil Meusel Saved Trouble. Emil Meusel, who hit Grove Young in with the first Giant run, prevented a possible Yankee tally by a few minutes before, with his quick recovery of Peewee's drive to left and his speedy throw that caught Peewee trying to make two bases on the clout. Peckinpaugh followed with a single, but it went to waste.

Maybe Ward Was Weary. Perhaps Ward was weary from overwork when he let Rawlings' roller slip from his grasp. He had handled the output of all three Giant batters in the previous inning, each in a fashion that brought cheers from the crowd.

How the Runs Were Scored. Fourth Inning—With one down Young sent a weak grounder between second and first. Ward came over and was set for the play, but fumbled; official scorers called it a hit. As Kelly missed a third strike Young stole second. E. Meusel singled to center, scoring Young. One run.

Seventh Inning—With two down, Ward fumbled Rawlings' feeble grounder, the scorers recording it as an error. Snyder lined a double to left center and Rawlings scored from first when Miller missed a desperate lunge to stop the drive. One run.

WINNER OF WESTERN CHESS TITLE IN DOUBT. CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 13.—Much doubt surrounded the winner of the Western chess championship when an adjournment was taken after the final round yesterday.

Sam Factor of Chicago finished his schedule with a score of 3-2, while Edward Lasker, Chicago, two games ahead, had 3-1, with two unfinished. H. Halbhout, Chicago, had 2-2 with one unfinished; Lasker, the scores of the other leaders and probable prize winners are: N. T. Whitaker, Washington, 2-2; J. T. Beckner, Winchester, Ky., 2-2; W. L. Moorman of Lynchburg, Virginia, has completed his schedule with 4-0.

At the annual meeting of the Western Chess Association, the following officers were elected: J. T. Beckner, Winchester, Ky., president; W. M. Vance, Colorado Springs, Colo., vice president; Charles E. Shivers, Cleveland, secretary-treasurer.

TWO PENN STARS ARE OUT FOR THE SEASON. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—Two first string men of the University of Pennsylvania's football team have been lost to the varsity for the balance of the season as a result of injuries they suffered early in the season.

They are Pat Dwyer, halfback, and Phil Dickson, a line backer. Both are suffering from badly injured knees.

Two other men, however, who were thought to be out of the game have returned to practice. Jimmy James, the big halfback, and "Big" Genthner, a lineman, warmed up with the varsity yesterday.

Negro Star Will Not Face St. L. U., Milwaukee Wires

Wisconsin Football Authorities Yield to Local Request Not to Play McMan Here.

It was announced this afternoon by Director of Athletics Father Hermans, at St. Louis University, that a telegram from the Engineering School of Milwaukee, received today, advised the local football authorities that McMan, the negro halfback, who was scheduled to play against the Milwaukee football team, would not play against St. Louis University in St. Louis Saturday.

Father Hermans previously had telegraphed the Milwaukee authorities that the football game between St. Louis and the Engineers, scheduled for next Saturday, would be cancelled unless the Wisconsin team dispensed with the services of their negro center.

Father Hermans stated that he was not aware of the fact that the Wisconsin school had a negro player on their squad until he read a story from Milwaukee in the Post-Dispatch.

He said: "I believe that playing against negroes might not be approved by some players and spectators. The fact that Eastern schools permit this has no effect on St. Louis University."

Bullken Team Crippled. Coach Steve O'Rourke will place a makeshift lineup on the field to oppose the Milwaukee team. Matheson, who played a star game against Milwaukee Saturday, will be in the hospital for several weeks, a small ankle bone being broken.

Dobson, the fleshy halfback, will be the chief center for at least two weeks more, due to a bad leg. Malloy will be unable to fill the hole at tackle, because of a series of bad shots and shiners.

Webb and Gerritzen are suffering from bad legs, but may break into the game. Gerritzen will take care of the center and Thornton, who has recovered from the bruises he received last week, will start at right tackle.

Levi, a new man, will succeed Matheson at right end. McConnell will be moved from quarterback to left half to fill in for Dobson. Egger and Todd will alternate at the other half, while "Dixie" Irace will take care of the line smashing from fullback.

Quarterback will once more be experimental. Quinn, Murphy and Roche are the high scorers of the defense. Left side of the line will be handled by Kalkman, M. Webb and Capt. Finnegan. The right side will be handled by Finnegan, a rest. The little captain is trained to the minute and the coach fears that he may go stale before the close of the season.

ST. LOUIS SHOOTERS STAR IN STATE EVENT. JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 12.—T. M. Ehler of Slater was high amateur at the annual tournament of the Missouri Trap Shooters' League yesterday, breaking 96 out of 100 targets.

Ehler, who is president of the league, was awarded the trophy in the singles event. In the doubles for amateurs, Ehler, A. M. McGee of Lamar and L. Seider of Jefferson City, each broke 117 out of 120 pairs.

HIPPO VAUGHN MISSING, WIFE INFORMS POLICE. CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—James "Hippo" Vaughn, former star pitcher with the Chicago Cubs, who has been mysteriously missing since last Sunday, the local police was advised today. His wife telephoned from their home in Kenosha, Wis., asking that search be made for him.

Jockey Portetto Dies. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 13.—Jockey Portetto, 34, of New Orleans, sustained fatal injuries during a race on the opening day of the fall meeting at Churchill Downs here yesterday.

Portetto, who was riding in a race with seven other horses and stumbled and fell with his rider, was taken unconscious to the track hospital, where he died. His skull was fractured. Portetto was about 25 years old and was under contract to ride for Mose Ghiberti of Cincinnati.

Cardinals Trim Herrin. The Cardinal Barnstormers defeated the Herrin, Ill., team yesterday, 6-1, at Herrin. Bobby Veach scored the lone run for the losers. Haines pitched for the Cardinals and allowed four hits, while his mates made 10 off David.

GIBBONS-WALKER BOUT AT BOSTON POSTPONED. Local affair profits.

Dispatches from Boston yesterday announced that Tom Gibbons, champion of the world's light-heavyweight boxing championship and owner of the successive knockouts, had postponed his bout with Hugh Walker, scheduled at Boston last night. Walker, it was stated, rendered the event inadvisable.

The postponement helped the Boston Men's Club show, scheduled for tomorrow night at the Offenberg hall. Gibbons is expected to reach here later than tonight.

The show, which will consist of three other good events besides the 12-round main event, is being held in the interest of the fund for needy enlisted men. The net profits of the bouts will go to this purpose.

The club was organized by Mr. Horace Ramsey, Col. John H. Parker of Jefferson Barracks and other interested persons. Memberships are on sale at the downtown hotels, St. Louis, St. Louis, and St. Louis.

Pikers Crippled for Expected Hard Struggle Against Grinnell

Long, Still on Hospital List, Will Probably Be Replaced by Denny, in Valley Championship Contest—Shanley, Injured at Manhattan, Is Im proving and Will Play.

The football squad of Grinnell College, in Iowa, will arrive tomorrow night 20 strong for its battle with the Washington University Pikers Saturday afternoon at Francis Field.

Although only three veterans are left from last year's combination, the Red and Black aggregation is reported to have assembled a strong football machine. The Pikers are expected to be outweighed by their opponents about 10 pounds to the man, the visitors averaging close to 190 pounds.

Freshman Coach Davis, who saw Grinnell lose to the strong Ames eleven last week, today said that Grinnell and the Pikers appear to be evenly matched and that each team would have to battle hard to prove its superiority. Saturday.

Bob Denny, Coach Rider's rangy utility lineman, will probably be used at tackle again this week, in place of Long, "Willbur's" shoulder injured in the Rella game, has not yet knitted and is almost certain to prevent the heavy tackle from seeing action this week.

Hafner, center, was also missing during the scrimmage, yesterday. An ankle was twisted in practice Tuesday, but this will not keep him out of the fray Saturday.

"Baldy" Thumser, who received a nasty kick in the face during the same workout, was present, but did not participate in the playing. However, "Baldy" will report for work this afternoon. Thumser played a star game at half in the Kansas Aggie fray, carrying the ball for a total of about 100 yards in gains by brilliant running.

Two Grinnell Stars, Injured in Ames Game, May Miss Piker Battle

Special to the Post-Dispatch. GRINNELL, Ia., Oct. 13.—Grinnell College football candidates are working hard this week for the game next Saturday with Washington University. "Red" Egan, all-State fullback from Grinnell in 1912, reported this week to assist Coach Saunders in training the Pioneers and secret practice has been the result. Egan will handle the backfield and Saunders will work with the line.

The Pioneers suffered many injuries in the game last week which Ames won, 21 to 3. White Hill, regular quarter, has a badly bruised leg as a result of being thrown against the cement curb surrounding the Ames field, and Walters, right half, has a badly injured leg. It is doubtful if either will play against Washington.

Miller and Jansen, have been suffering from charley-horses this week, but will be able to get into the fray.

Fumbles Hurt Pioneers. Grinnell's greatest fault in the Ames game was in faulty handling of the ball. Two of the cyclone touchdowns were made from fumbles, which resulted in the ball being downed within the 10-yard line. Much of the practice this week has been toward remedying this defect.

Municipal Tennis Final. The final round of the municipal tennis doubles tournament will take place on the Forest Park courts this afternoon. This contest has been postponed five times and, weather permitting, should be completed today. Arthur Reppert and Ted Drewes will oppose Elmer Schwarz and Alvin Schwarz in the final round. Drewes and Reppert are the present holders of the title.

Miss Boyle to Marry. NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Miss Charlotte Boyle, national champion swimmer and world's record holder, will be married next week to Henry W. Clune of Rochester, N. Y. It was learned yesterday. She is the daughter of Col. Joseph W. Boyle, allied Food Administrator in Rumania, who saw service in Flanders with the Canadian forces. Clune is the son of the president of the Rochester Athletic Club.

Coaches of High School Elevens Schedule Games

Central, Soldan, Cleveland and McKinley Have Tilts Booked for Week End.

The various high schools are entering into the last lap of their pre-season training and are booked for heavy practice games between now and Oct. 22, the opening date of the interscholastic league race.

Central High has two hard games this week, meeting the strong St. Louis U. High School team this afternoon at St. Louis U. Campus and Principia, Saturday. Both teams are considered exceptionally strong. St. Louis defeated McKinley last week, and Principia humbled Yeamann, 27 to 0.

Cleveland meets the fast Loyola Academy team Friday and will oppose Maplewood High, Oct. 18. Coach Pennenga's squad will have an open date Oct. 22 on the interscholastic schedule and will take on Western Military Academy. The McKinley hopes were high, following their brilliant battle against St. Louis U. High School, but the poor game against the trade school squad which resulted in a 3-0 McKinley victory sent the hopes glimmering.

Hawkins expressed keen disappointment at his players' poor tackling. The coach has booked a game with a team composed of St. Louis U. Freshmen for Saturday afternoon at High School Field, in order that his team may meet a heavy aggregation and obtain practice in clean tackling. Hanley, star center of the South Siders, will be unable to play Saturday due to absence from the city.

"Jimmie" Cook's Soldan eleven meets the Western Military Academy team Saturday. Cook has his men in the pink of condition and frequent scrimmages with the Principia eleven and a scrub team of students has given the West Enders the desired practical workouts. The coach is well satisfied with his squad.

Soccer Lines Cause Trouble. Yeamann High School's football squad was not discouraged by the recent defeat at the hands of Principia. Coach Hill attributes the poor showing of his eleven to lack of practice games. The contest last week was the first real workout the North Enders have had this year. Hill said that all his men are in good condition and that he hopes to be a large factor in the interscholastic race.

Considerable trouble at High School Field has been caused by the soccer football lines being placed in such a manner that they confuse the Rugby football field markings, according to Secretary Drake of the Interscholastic League. The soccer markings in some places are identical with the High School yard lines, but branch out because of the angle in which the soccer field is set out. Drake said that he was taking the matter up with the soccerites and hoped that the confusion would be eliminated.

KANSAS AGGIES EXPECT TO BE VALLEY FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP FACTORS. MANHATTAN, Kan., Oct. 13.—The Kansas Aggies, playing Creighton University next Saturday, will drop out of the Missouri Valley championship race for a week, their next conference game being with Missouri University here Oct. 22.

The Aggies will face the Omaha eleven, badly crippled from last Saturday's Piker game. Capt. Cleveland and line men, Stauffer and Staib, will not be in the lineup. Cleveland and Staib were injured last Saturday and Stauffer has not yet recovered from sprains received in the Emporia contest.

Creighton beat Des Moines last Saturday, 28 to 0. Followers of the Aggies feel that their team is going to be real championship contender this season.

The Daily Burgess Bedtime Story

Brown's Boy Breaks Up the Party.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

A danger when you can find it much the wisest plan.

—Mrs. Bear.

From his perch in a treetop overlooking the berry patch on the foot of the Great Mountain, Brown's Boy had watched Bear find and empty one of the berry bushes, and the cubs, Wolf and Boxer, find and empty the other. He had been sorely tempted to join them, knowing as he did that the sound of his voice would have left him in a heap.

But he decided that it was with the loss of those berries just as those Bears and what they did do.

He wouldn't have spoiled the fun of the cubs for all the berries on the mountain, thought he as he watched the twins playing with the berry patch. They act just like a pair of boys with an old tin can, never having much fun since I got to the circus.

After a while he realized that he was growing late and he must be thinking of getting home. Once he thought of getting home, he thought of the berries. Then he thought of a better plan.

"I'll yell," thought he, "they will see that they have been seen and run away pell-mell. I would like to see just how they will act if they hear that I am near, but think I haven't seen them. I've heard a lot about the keenness of a Bear's nose, and the cleverness with which he stalks away from possible danger. I would like to find out for myself if this is true."

He carefully tested the wind to see in which way it was blowing. Then, taking great care to make no sound, he climbed down from his perch and slowly made his way toward that side of the berry patch from which the wind was blowing. All the time he kept out of the berry patch. When he was blowing toward the berry patch he swiftly and silently stole until he could peep out from behind the bushes and see the cubs.

There, Buster Bear and Mrs. Bear were sitting on the ground, eating the berries. Boxer and Wolf-Wolf were having a glorious time with the berries.

Mrs. Little Breeze stole over Brown's Boy's head and he saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone.

He saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone.

He saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone.

He saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone.

He saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone.

He saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone.

He saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone.

He saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone. He saw that the berries were gone.

THE TEARS OF DOROTHEA

A Story in Three Installments

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

(Copyright, 1921.)

THIRD INSTALLMENT.

THE hat and gown she put on for her outing. She looked at the clock. It was morning. She had been up for some time, but only the sophisticated professional eye would have discovered this. Dorothea wore her clothes as if they were a part of her. She had a wave of color flooded her face. Something new had entered their relations, something that made her heart pound. He leaned closer and took her hand.

"Then—then perhaps you won't turn down the suggestion I'm going to make. But before you say anything I want you to think it over. It's a long time, but I'll wait. It means a lot to me. I won't deny that. It's—the dream. On the other hand—perhaps you think it's practicable. I don't know."

He stopped a moment, then went on with the effect of a runner taking a hurdle at full speed. "I'm going to be in New York a good deal now on—about half the time. I'm wondering if you'll take me in—if we can live together. Now don't speak," he hastened to add. "Think it over a while."

She was glad of his suggestion to think it over. Certainly it needed thinking about. Though her heart seemed to turn over when it was made. She must pull herself together—if she could. This strange man who had been Dick's friend must be permitted to unsettle her judgment. With extraordinary rapidity her mind circled first around the proposition, then around the obvious objection that presented itself. The man who had been Dick's friend must be permitted to unsettle her judgment.

UNCOMMON SENSE

By John Blake

WHAT COSTS NOTHING IS WORTH IT

THE most futile quest in life is the search for something for nothing. Pursuing it is gambling, whether the pursuer is a business man or a roulette addict.

The philanthropist can give money, but he cannot give either success or happiness. These never come for nothing. They must always be worked for. It is harder work for the son of a rich man to succeed than it is for the son of a poor man.

The rich man's son does not need to work, and his brain gets flabby from inaction. The poor man's son, if he has any ambition, gets abundant mental exercise from the start.

He must earn first his living, then his education, then a place in the world. That takes work, and work means mental development.

Many people to whom talent has brought early success have been worthless afterward. As soon as it became no longer necessary to labor, the labor was stopped.

An inactive mind will rust and become useless even quicker than an inactive body. No matter how talented you are, you are never relieved from the necessity of labor.

Enjoyment depends on the capacity for enjoyment, which must be cultivated. It can only be cultivated by developing the mind and the mind cannot be developed without toil.

Don't envy the man who has been given a fortune by others. It is a poor substitute for independence earned by himself. He has never seen a number of examples of it in the divorce courts.

We could find more, if we searched for them, in the insane asylums. What you get for nothing is worth nothing. It never is worth more. (Copyright, 1921.)

Grace Dodge Hotel to Open in Washington Oct. 19

Y. W. C. A. Institution, the First of Its Kind in America Will Be Conducted by Women and for Women.

By ABBY A. ROCKEFELLER.

As the Grace Dodge Hotel in Washington is approaching completion, it seems fitting to review its history and outline its purpose and aims. It will be opened Oct. 19. About a year after the United States had entered the war, the living conditions in Washington became almost intolerable. The clerical activities of every department were centered there and over 100,000 women were employed. The Commission on Training Camp Activities, greatly concerned by the position in which thousands of these women were found in overcrowded quarters and with inadequate eating facilities, asked the War Work Council of the Young Women's Christian Association to do all that was within its power to relieve the situation.

After a survey of available land had been made, the property on the corner of North Capitol and E streets was purchased and paid for out of the money raised in the first campaign of the Y. W. C. A. for the war.

Permit to build was granted by the Housing Corporation, on condition that no steel be used. This meant a concrete building, which was difficult and expensive. The cost of this building was put into the budget of the second campaign of the War Work Council and was heartily approved by the War Department before the several welfare organizations came together to collect their funds for the war.

The plans were complete, and we were ready to begin building operations when the armistice was signed. Immediately the Housing Committee of the Y. W. C. A. asked permission to use steel, and the plans were entirely redrafted.

As the plans are now the building contains rooms for approximately 400 women. On each bedroom floor there is a valet's room, in which there will be a set of electric ironing boards. There is a hot and cold running water in each room, and a limited number of rooms have complete private baths. There will be a room arranged for mothers with little children.

Each floor has its sunny sitting room. There will be telephones in every room and ice water in the corridors. All the rooms are absolutely fireproof, and the electric wiring and plumbing are of the best. The hotel is located on Capitol Hill.

They were as perfect and as admirably arranged as the rest of the 14-room apartment. The servants had their own sitting room, their own kitchen, and their own bathroom. The big bedroom he had selected was almost as large as the living room in her present flat.

The Great Teacher in Action

By Rev. Thomas B. Gregory

(Copyright, 1921.)

THE GREATEST THING IN THE WORLD.

Matthew xlii, 1-12.

THE Pharisees were the "orthodox" of their day. The "unregenerate" as Burns would have called them. Strict formalists, tireless in their devotion to the letter of the law, and of faultless circumlocution as regards outward conformity to its requirements, they were at heart cold-blooded, avaricious, domineering, and, worst of all, hypocritical, for they could only be likened to "whited sepulchers," which were "fair without," but within were "full of dead men's bones and all uncleanness."

Now, said the Great Teacher to the plain people of His day, these Pharisees sit on Moses' seat. They love the chief place at feasts, and the chief seats in the synagogue. They love to be saluted in the market place and elsewhere in public, and to be called Master.

But I warn you concerning them. The things that they tell you to do out of the commandments, do, but don't imitate their lives. For they say, and do not. They are good at preaching, but when it comes to putting their preaching into practice they are sadly deficient.

They pile great burdens on men's shoulders, burdens too heavy to be borne, and they will not touch them with even so much as one of their fingers. Everything that they do is moved by the spirit of vanity and the love of power.

They delight in having people look at them decked out in their splendid robes, strutting along with a lordly swing, as though they were supermen, invested by God with extraordinary privileges, powers and sanctities.

Have done, then, continued the Great Teacher, in substance, to stop calling these men Rabbi and Master and Father. One only is your Father, and one your Teacher and Master, and ye are all brethren.

Have done, then, continued the Great Teacher, with your silly adulation before these hypocrites; these blind guides, who care nothing for the temple, but who swear like pirates by the gods of the temple; who compass sea and land to make one proselyte, only to make him twofold more a child of hell than he was before.

I will tell you what to do. He goes on to say, get immediately interested in the work of loving service in behalf of each other.

Put away from you the old pagan idea of pomp and power; we are not masters and slaves, we are brothers, and to help a brother man to be better and happier is far better than to rule over him like a tyrant.

Do you really want to be GREAT? Then become a willing worker for the good of the temple; and you will succeed. It is not the vain Pharisee sitting on Moses' seat, or the emperored king on his throne of power, but the faithful servant of human necessity who is great. The greatest person on earth is the one who is doing the most for the promotion of the true human welfare.

I give the reference once more—Matthew xlii, 1-12. It will pay you to read it over half a dozen times.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

SOMETIME.

Sometime, when the little soft feet have grown stronger,
And learn past the nursery doorway to stray,
We shall look at the world from the window no longer
But visit the country that's over the way.
Go see the great trees and the beautiful flowers
That grow in that happier, sunnier clime,
And lie 'neath the lilacs for hours and hours Until the big dog comes to scare us—sometime.

Sometime we shall know all the magical meaning Of the secrets the houses have hid from our eyes,
They must contain treasures that need but the gleaning
To fill our young hearts with delightful surprise.
Sometime we shall know all the curious people
And the dogs and puppies that pass on the street
And the pigeons that dwell in the towering steeple
And the pert little sparrows with three-cornered feet.

Sometime, the big tom-cat, so fierce and so furry Won't frighten us so with his big, glaring gaze,
But when we walk out he'll run off in a hurry
He won't be so terrible, one of these days!
And perhaps the old horse that goes by, patter-patter,
Will stop when he sees us, and stand there and wait
To ride us around with a wonderful clatter
And bring us safe back, by and by, to the gate.

We'll have these adventures on some day or other,
The world must be much like a nursery rhyme,
But just for the present we'll stay here with mother We'll not go today—but we're going sometime!

National Shop Crafts

UNIONS IN MEETINGS

Employers Announce There Will Be No Immediate Freight Reductions, but Pay Cuts Will Be Applied For.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Warren S.
Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, today requested a conference with the railroad executives, in session here, on behalf of the six big railroad unions, which have voted to strike.
Officers of 16 railroad unions went into session shortly before noon at one hotel, while more than 100 railroad presidents were meeting at another.

There will be no immediate reduction in freight rates, but the United States Railroad Labor Board will be petitioned at once to reduce further the wages of employees, the executives announced after an all-day meeting. A committee will be appointed at once to confer with the union leaders over wages, it was announced in response to the invitation from the union heads for a conference.

A general policy of wage and freight rate reductions was the dominating topic under discussion. Realization that the legal steps necessary to lower wages and transportation charges would delay any benefit to the public indefinitely was said to be a factor in the definite proposal to aid agricultural production.

According to railroad officials, a temporary reduction of rates on farm products was thought to be possible with comparatively little delay. A tentative reduction of 10 per cent was suggested.

Negotiations for Piecework.
The railroad crisis was rendered more acute when the Labor Board handed down a decision today paying the way for the restoration of piecework. The railroad presidents are jubilant, while union leaders fear the effect on their men, more than 80 per cent of whom have already voted to strike rather than accept further wage reductions or rules which they oppose.

The Labor Board authorized the railroads to open negotiations with the unions for the restoration of piecework, which is now barred by one of the shop-crafts national agreements, entered into under the late railroad administration.
The board today handed down 17 more rules of the shop-crafts agreement. The opinion was given in the case of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Co., against the Railway Employees' Department of the American Federation of Labor. With the exception of the piece work order, all the rules dealt with minor and technical shop practices.

Rule 1, as Amended.

As amended, rule number 1 reads:
"Eight hours shall constitute a day's work. All employees coming under the provisions of this agreement, except as otherwise provided in this schedule of rules, or as may hereafter be legally established between the carrier and the employees, shall be paid on the hourly basis."
"This rule is intended to remove the inhibition against piece work contained in rule 1 of the shopcrafts national agreement and to permit the question to be taken up for negotiation on any individual railroad in the manner prescribed by the transportation act."

The railway executives, it is reported, also will consider a proposal to seek an amendment to the Transportation Act transferring to the Interstate Commerce Commission the wage adjusting authority now vested in the Railroad Labor Board.
The railway executives have declined to indicate what definite steps will be discussed for proposing further wage reductions, which, under their plan would be necessary
